Questions tax hike

Typical of most Romulus residents is this local citizen questioning City Assessor Dave Krause about the recent hike in his taxes. Eighty percent of Romulus property owners have received tax increases as a result of the city charter-ordered reassessment, which was done by Wayne County Bureau of Taxation. Many residents feel it's a conflict of interest for Wayne County to assess property on which it will collect taxes on.

Taxes soar; residents stage full-scale revolt

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus taxpayers have staged a full-scale revolt as a result of the recent property reassessment in the city that sent their taxes soaring.

While many this Easter season are speaking of the resurrection, Romulus property owners are talking of insurrection. That's how angry they are.

More than 350 local residents jammed the VFW Hall on Huron River Drive Thursday night to discuss ways to fight the reassessment results.

Many in the city have had their taxes doubled or tripled as a result of the new valuation put on their property. And many turned out to the VFW Hall to protest.

Cars were double and triple parked up and down Huron River Dr. by the hall and many others could not find a place to park.

"It's the largest citizen's crowd I've ever seen in Romulus in my life, and I've been here a long time," said Mel Morgan, who is helping to head the drive to head off the higher taxes along with Ed Rush, a local florist.

"The people of Romulus are angrier than I've ever seen them," Morgan continued. "But the thing that impressed me at Thursday night's meeting is that the people are willing to act in an orderly fashion to get things done."

Morgan's informally-gathered group of irate citizens listened to two attorneys who were on hand to answer their questions.

One result of Thursday's meeting was to appoint a delegation of citizens to attend each City Council and School Board meeting and let members of those two bodies know their feelings.

Morgan said his group hopes to get some kind of verbal commitment from the council and school board that they will not plan to use the additional tax money coming their way.

Because of the large crowd at last week's tax revolt meeting, Morgan says his group will meet at the larger UAW Local 157 Hall, 29841 Van Born Rd., between Merriman and Middlebelt, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 6.

A flyer passed around by Romulus citizens points out action to be taken at the April 6 meeting.

It reads: "At this meeting we will be setting up an organizational structure of our 'Grass Roots' movement. We will be setting up committees and precinct captains so that all city meetings, public hearings, and issues vital to us will be announced to our members."

The intensity of the "anti-tax increase" is so great that the past two meetings at City Council have been jammed.

A victim of the tax protest is the Campbell Development Co., who wanted to get a tax exemption certificate under Public Act 198 whereby it would only pay taxes at the rate of 50 percent for the next 12 years.

City Council approved establishing an Industrial Development District for that purpose on Feb. 28, with Ray Cantrell and Mrs. Beverly McAnally voting against it.

The resolution calls for an automatic public hearing to be held before council can approve it. The public hearing was held last week Tuesday just prior to the regular City Council meeting.

The chambers were packed with irate citizens protesting Campbell Co. getting the 50 percent tax reduction while some of them were paying two and three times their former assessment. Other company representatives, union leaders, business people and residents of Romulus were among the vocal protestors.

Mayor William Oakley spoke in favor of the tax break for Campbell Co., stating that the city would receive some $63,000 annually in taxes where they only receive about $3,000 now on the vacant land.

At the council meeting which followed, council members voted 7-0 to deny the request of Campbell Development Co. for an Industrial Development District at this time.

"I think the crowd would have hung the council members from the flag pole in front of city hall if they would have passed it," said a disgruntled resident.

New school board restores cutbacks

Romulus School Board voted last week to restore nine of the 10 programs recommended by the Citizens' Advisory Committee.

It was the first board meeting where the seven members took action on items after Gov. William Milliken appointed four trustees to replace the four who were recalled at the March 4 election.

The recommendations, made by a 16-member group of citizens, will take effect as soon as they can be implemented.

In brief, the recommended programs include: rehiring two speech therapists, one social worker and one school nurse.

Also restored was the vision and hearing program; 14 department chairpersons; student field trips; achievement testing programs; increased security personnel; high school co-op program; elementary school instrumental music program and virtually unlimited use of school buildings.

The only recommendation not approved was the one concerning the hiring of a personnel-labor relations manager. However, the board did give School Supt. James Garfield permission interview prospective candidates for the job.

It gave the permission because the state-aid formula will not be known for about two months. If the money is available after knowing how much money the school district will receive in state-aid and tax money, the board would be in a position to move quickly to hire the best candidate for the job.

Voting for the first time as school board members were Mrs. Sandra Langley, Richard Campbell, Mrs. Lynn E. Slaughter and Mrs. Sharron Cahill, who were appointed last week to vacancies on the board.

They replaced Gerald Budd, Mrs. Gloria Chandler, Gordon Silvey and Ron Christensen, who were recalled when citizens felt they were unresponsive to their wishes.

In other board action, new officers were named for the remainder of the school year and until new officers take their seats after the June 12 school election.

Wayne Avery was voted President on a 6-1 count and Campbell was elected vice-president on a 5-2 vote, both on secret ballots, while Mike Woods was named treasurer and Shirley Lombardi chosen secretary by acclamation.

Local residents planning to run for the five open school board seats in the June 12 annual election, must file their petitions before the April 10 deadline.

City joins group for clout

Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley has joined with a growing number of Wayne County mayors and supervisors in supporting the recently-formed Wayne County Association of Local Government Officials.

A meeting of the group was called last week at Wayne's City Hall by Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara, who is spearheading the organization.

The organization was started last summer by eight mayors who were concerned about various federal and county actions that were taken unilaterally without consulting them first.

According to McNamara, the members hope to eliminate this practice by "banding together to make our positions heard in Lansing and Washington, D.C."

"Our aim, according to our bylaws, will be the improvement of local government and administration through cooperative effort," McNamara said.

Since June, several founding members were replaced due to November election defeats, so another purpose of last week's meeting was to encourage newly-elected officials, like Mayor Oakley, to become actively involved in the organization.

The goal is total participation by all 42 suburban communities in Wayne County, and they are well on the way to achieving success. The meeting in Wayne was only the group's fourth, yet elected leaders from 23 communities have indicated they will support the organization.

Although young, the group has already flexed its collective muscles in Lansing, where a drive by firefighters to lower the working hours was returned to committee, after the group came down hard against such action.

Other items of common concern raised at the meeting were area public transportation needs, state-mandated costs to cities and the so-called super sewer project being planned to run along the edge of the county.

As for the state-mandated costs issue, Richard H. Headlee, president of Taxpayers United for Tax Limitation, gave a presentation of the action his group is taking to get a constitutional amendment tax limitation proposal on the November ballot, which would greatly affect the state's penchant for dreaming up programs for cities without providing the money to fund them.

Mayor Oakley agreed to host the next meeting in Romulus on April 12, to elect officers, set goals and establish priorities.

Elected leaders from the following communities were present at the meeting: Romulus, Belleville, Rockwood, Inkster, Harper Woods, Hamtramck, Huron Township, Canton Township, Dearborn Heights, Allen Park, Redford, Dearborn, Wayne and Livonia.

Strength in unity

Several representatives from communities in Western Wayne County met at Wayne City Hall last week to discuss ways to give cities and townships more "clout". Officials from 23 communities have already agreed to join the newly-formed Wayne County Association of Local

Office in Metro Plaza West

37 members get new chamber rolling

Some 37 members of the business community turned out to the Ramada Inn last week as plans move quickly forward to form the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce.

Although only three meetings of the newly-formed group have been held, the March 14 dinner gathering showed that the steering committee and other acting officials have given the chamber definitive guidance.

A location has been found for the new Romulus Greater Chamber of Commerce. Offices at Metro Plaza West, 10000 S. Wayne Road, have been selected and a sign already erected which can be read by motorists coming off of I-94 at the Wayne Road interchange.

Dr. C.J. Carpenter, acting chairman, turned the business meeting part of the program over to Mel Morgan, who reported briefly on the background leading up to last week's meeting.

He said that a steering committee had met on three previous occasions and chosen a temporary board of directors. Included on the list of acting officers are Carpenter, acting president; Bob Brueck, acting vice-president; Joe Demusky, acting vice-president; Bill Dorne, acting treasurer; and Jim LaBadie, acting secretary.

Brueck urged all people present to take a copy of the by-laws and study them in preparation to formally voting on them at the next chamber meeting. He also reported that the new telephone numbers for the chamber would be 941-5710 and 941-5711.

Dorne, acting treasurer, reported that the chamber was now officially chartered, and presented a preliminary budget of $10,000. The cost of membership has not yet been decided, but Dorne said that both corporate and individual memberships would be available.

Ron Hopson, chairman of the membership and recruitment committee, said that many individuals have already expressed interest in joining the new Romulus Chamber of Commerce. He indicated he was looking for an immediate increase of the group's membership rolls.

Gary Bingham reported that he and Jim LaBadie had held several study sessions to make arrangements for the chamber to sponsor Livelihood Day, May 24, during Michigan Week in Romulus.

After Brueck announced that the next meeting would be held at noon on April 11 at Ramada Inn, Dr. Carpenter added that all future chamber luncheon meetings will involve guest speakers and no business would be conducted then.

Writer's create winner

Students in the Creative Writing classes at Romulus High School were given the task of coming up with a theme for the recent vocational week held at the school. "We had a lot of great slogans turned in and it was difficult picking a winner," said Pat Gresock (right), coordinator of National Vocational Education Week. Winners of the contest were Ed Manion (left) and Jim Bircroff, who collaborated together to come up with the winning theme, "Build Your Future With Voc Ed", as voted by the Voc Ed teaching staff. The motto was printed in white letters on maroon buttons — the school colors.

Through their music

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

A journey of a 1,000 miles begins with the first step.

And just as we never know exactly where the next step will lead us, so it is with a local Romulus man who sings with a fast-rising gospel singing group.

Grover Kahl is lead singer for The King's Messengers, who recently cut their second album in Cincinnati, Ohio. He resides with his wife, Sue, and children on Wayne Road and serves in the dual capacity of Music Director and Sunday School Superintendent at Calvary Baptist Church in the city.

Kahl began singing with a group in a Westland church a few years ago and never expected to see his name on a record album.

"We started out singing for the Lord and tried to be a musical blessing to our church," he says, explaining the birth of The King's Messengers. "Little did we realize where our path would lead us."

But as a pebble dropped into the water makes an ever-widening ripple of waves, God has opened an ever-widening ministry for this talented group of seven Christians who began singing informally about 10 years ago.

And the path has taken them to sing at many gospel concerts across the midwestern area of the country and especially in the Western Wayne County area.

Besides Grover and Sue, who plays piano for the group, The King's Messengers is comprised of Ray Fant, baritone, of Westland and Mrs. Pat McGrath, alto, of Garden City.

Accompanying the three singers are the father and son team of James and Rick Brewer of Dearborn, who play rhythm and bass guitar, respectively, and Jim Smith, of Dearborn Heights, who plays lead guitar.

Although they've been singing together for about 10 years, it's only been in the past four years that doors of opportunity have really swung wide open for The King's Messengers.

About the time Grover returned to his former church, Calvary Baptist of Romulus, pastored by Rev. Lonnie England, new opportunities appeared for the musical group.

Their latest gospel album, entitled "Ready To Leave", features slower soul-searching pleas for people to receive Christ as their Saviour as well as challenging wayward Christians to serve Christ. Also included are fast-paced, happy songs of assurance proclaiming that Christians should be a happy people.

As a result of the contract, single records will be sent to some 1,200 disc jockeys around the nation, and the group is destined to be heard by countless thousands across the country.

"We do not set any price on our visits to churches," explains Kahl.

'We started out singing for the Lord and tried to be a musical blessing...'

"We leave that in the hands of the Lord and He always gives us enough to get by on."

"We are not doing this just to be up in front of people or to be in the spotlight, all seven of us in The King's Messengers are singing and playing to glorify God."

"First, we want to tell in song of the amazing love of Jesus Christ for lost sinners and the wonderful life we can share in Him. Secondly, we want to be a blessing to people as they listen to our gospel songs on record and tapes."

Kahl attended Bible college several years ago to better prepare himself to serve the Lord and works a full-time job during the day while singing evenings and on weekends.

Jim Smith, program director for the group, may be called at 562-0646 for those who would like The King's Messengers to sing for them.

Yes, no one knows just where life's journey will take them — but one thing is sure about The King's Messengers.

Their ever-widening circle of musical followers love to listen to them every step of the way.

Wesleyan Church to show 'Road'

The story is old, but the perspective is updated and brought into sharp focus by the film "The Gospel Road", to be shown on Easter Sunday at the Romulus Wesleyan Church, 37300 Goddard Road, Romulus. The film will be shown at 6 p.m.

The film tells the story of Jesus Christ in a realistic and meaningful way. Come and walk along the banks of the Jordan River and the shore of the Sea of Galilee, where Jesus walked. See the arrest and trial of Christ before Pilate and the events that lead up to the Crucifixion.

Johnny Cash and his wife, June Carter, will be narrating this film, as well as singing in it. Johnny Cash produced it, and the film is distributed by World Wide Pictures.

Pastor James Robert is inviting family and friends to join with the Romulus Wesleyan Church in viewing this film.

A free-will offering will be taken. For more information call 941-4167 or 941-1511.

Romulus rec invites seniors to participate

The Romulus Recreation Department has issued a special invitation to all senior citizens in the city to participate in the wide assortment of activities it provides. "We attempt to plan a wide range of classes and events to cover the varied interests of everyone", said Marie DeBuysscher, recreation director.

She pointed out that it is not necessary for a senior to be a member of any club to participate. The classes and trips are for everyone who wishes to go.

"The only requirements are that a person is at least 50 years old, is a resident of Romulus and, in the case of long trips, that you have the properly signed forms", she said. Any seniors desiring to register for a scheduled trip may do so by signing the trip sheet and paying their deposit. All classes held at the Drop-in Center, Bibbins at Shook Street, are free and open to all senior citizens.

You may obtain further information by calling the rec department at 941-0666, ext. 67, Monday through Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

We the People to hold meeting tomorrow

The regular March meeting of We The People will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the community room of Romulus City Hall, 11111 S. Wayne Rd.

Planning which direction the non-partisan group will take in the coming months is the main item on the agenda. The members will discuss what part the group will play in the upcoming Michigan Week celebration in Romulus in May.

Acting Chairman Richard Campbell, who has just been appointed by Gov. William Milliken to one of four school board vacancies, urges all citizens to attend tomorrow night's session.

"I think every citizen should be involved in the community," Campbell said. "The more people that take part insures a better representation of the public's wishes and also helps get more accomplished for our city."

Campbell said citizens are invited to all of the monthly meetings which are held in the community room at City Hall and are open to the public.

The King's Messenger

The message is in their music and The King's Messengers are gaining an ever-widening listening audience for their gospel music. A Romulus couple Grover and Sue Kahl (at left), play a very important part in the group's success. Sue plays piano and Grover sings lead for the musical aggregation which recently cut its second gospel album in Cincinnati, Ohio. The three guitarists who accompany The King's Messengers are (from back to front) James Brewer, Jim Smith and Rick Brewer. Rounding out the group are Mrs. Pat McGrath and Ray Fant.

See you later

More than 50 contest-winning news carriers for Associated Newspaper Inc. recently visited Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn. The group was made up of the top 50 carriers in sales for the month of January. The group traveled by a bus provided by the Wayne Assembly of God. The bus driver was Hubert Lovvorn, while the chaperones were ANP circulation director Gene Wertz, and four of the carriers' mothers — Louise Phillips of Romulus, Diane Moriarity of Belleville, Cheryl Scott of Canton Township and Sharon Blass of Westland. The carriers all said they enjoyed the tour very much and look forward to going back again, according to Wertz. The tour guides at the museum, commended the group for being one of the most orderly groups to visit the museum. — ANP photo.

County records increases in measles cases in schools

The Wayne County Department of Health has issued a warning of an increasing number of measles cases in schools in the county.

While this increased disease activity is not now an epidemic, local health officials are concerned it soon could become one, since the highest numbers of such cases occurs during the spring months.

If this pattern continues, there could be a sharp increase in the number of measles cases within the next several weeks.

According to Dr. Jane Polkowski, director of Communicable Disease Control for the health department, 75 cases of measles has been reported as of Feb. 23. Last year, only six cases had been reported for the same period.

The median number of cases for the past five years has been 56 cases for this period.

She said: "We are concerned that we are seeing not only the usual seasonal increase in measles but an overall increase as well."

Though the disease is thought by some to be a harmless childhood ailment, Dr. Polkowski noted that most people become very ill when they get it. In addition to the characteristic measles rash, symptoms include high fever (102 degrees or above), cough, inflammation and runniness of the eyes and nose.

The symptoms usually last eight to 10 days, but serious complications, such as pneumonia and encephalitis, sometimes occurs. Encephalitis is especially dangerous because it may result in convulsions, mental retardation or deafness. About one in 10,000 children with measles die from the disease.

Dr. Polkowski noted that the disease and its complications can be prevented through immunization, and that most outbreaks involve unvaccinated or improperly vaccinated children.

"We have audited health records in some schools and found many children with incomplete or no immunization records on file," Dr. Polkowski said. "This problem is particularly troublesome in the older age groups." She is urging parents to go through their children's immunization records.

Immunization against measles is recommended immediately for those who:

- (1) Have not received it;
- (2) Received it before 12 months of age;
- (3) Received the inactivated vaccine (available before 1966); and
- (4) Received the further attenuated live virus vaccine with immune serum globulin.

The vaccine is available from physicians or from the free health department clinics. The clinic locations and hours are:

—Wayne County Health Center-Eloise, located on Merriman Road one block north of Michigan Avenue in Westland. Call 274-2800, ext. 310. Hours are 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and 4 to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

—Taylor South Health Center, 21201 Eureka Road, Taylor. Call 287-2400. The hours are 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Friday.

Easter: Season of high fashion, Jonquils, Daffodils

Here comes Easter, that joyous season of sunrise worship, high fashion, jonquils and daffodils. It's the springtime of life and a renewal of the human spirit. It's Easter eggs and bunny rabbits, the Easter parade and the glad tidings of "Alleluia!"

With the exception of Christmas, Easter is, perhaps, the most universally celebrated religious holiday. Here is part of its fact and mythology as reported by the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers.

Easter Sunday is, of course, the day marking Christ's resurrection. It was this sense of "rebirth" that imparted a "new beginning" for the people of many lands and cultures.

For years, Easter sunrise services have been held in such landmarks as the Hollywood Bowl in California, the Garden of the Gods in Colorado, the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery, the Grand Canyon in Arizona and the Punchbowl National Memorial Cemetery in Hawaii.

The egg, the traditional Easter symbol of life, was rooted deeply in the lives of the ancient Egyptians, Persians, Phoenicians and Hindus. In English-speaking lands, the coloring of eggs for Easter was a custom that originated in England in the Middle Ages. In the reign of Edward I, the king's accountants recorded that 18 pence was spent for coloring eggs in gold leaf in the year 1290. The eggs were distributed to members of the royal household.

In medieval England, priests blessed Easter eggs which were then exchanged as gifts by friends. In Poland, Easter eggs traditionally are decorated with abstract patterns. An early custom in Hungary was for young women to give decorated eggs to their suitors. Easter eggs were planted in vineyards in the Balkans on the superstitious theory that the eggs would protect the vines against freezing rain.

Eggs have been decorated by the Ukrainians since 988 A. D. Those with plant designs are symbolic of love and charity; a pine tree, eternal youth; and hens and roosters, fertility and the fulfillment of dreams.

Spring fashions have long been the reason "for my new Easter outfit", the bright and colorful apparel for "the Easter parade." Easter lilies, daffodils and tulips present the image of new life springing from dormant plants and flowers.

Along with eggs and flowers, the rabbit and the lamb have for centuries symbolized the rites of spring. For this reason, it is little wonder that these are the most popular themes of the thousands of Easter greeting cards exchanged among friends each year.

Editorial opinions

Michigan tax limitation moves to area

With growing support for the on-going petition drive aimed at placing the question of a Michigan tax limitation question on this fall's ballot, it has become apparent that citizens of this area have decided that it is time to force government efficiency.

It is unusual for the hard-pressed, tax-weary citizens of this state to get a second chance to correct a bad situation, but that chance may well be at hand.

A group calling itself Taxpayers United for Tax Limitation, has begun a state-wide petition drive to garner the necessary 260,000 signatures to get the question of tax limitation for the citizens of Michigan on the November ballot this year.

A similar question presented to the voters of Michigan in 1976 was narrowly defeated following the lead of the state's school officials who feared that such a measure would adversely affect their ability to effectively administer the schools.

The measure, essentially the same one as proposed in 1976, with but few modifications, would tie state spending to personal income.

According to Richard H. Headlee, president of Taxpayers United, "The tax situation and the growth of government in Michigan are out of control. This kind of taxation is destructive. I am referring directly to the ability of the men and women of Michigan to earn a living with some reasonable expectation that their jobs will continue to exist next year, and the year after."

The Taxpayers United push to once again get a tax limitation question on the Michigan ballot is supported by Nobel Prize-winning economist Milton Friedman, and many elected leaders of Michigan who feel that the tax limit is the only answer to taxation and spending that have gone out of control.

Honorary co-chairman of the campaign to place the tax limitation amendment on the November 1978 ballot are Dr. Paul McCracken, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Affairs, and Friedman.

Provisions of the amendment, if approved by the people of Michigan, would include:

Require the Legislature to draft enabling acts which would link Michigan's tax revenue to the personal income of the people.

Require that tax rates could not be increased beyond current rates unless an emergency is declared by the Governor and affirmed by the Legislature, or unless the taxpayers themselves vote to increase taxes;

Prohibit local governments from raising taxes without a vote of the people;

Prohibit state government from shifting the burden of taxation to local governments by mandating local programs.

The necessity of such an amendment is shown by statistics supplied by Taxpayers United. "Spending in Michigan has increased 800 percent against an income increase of only 180 percent over the past 10 years. During that same period of time, the state's population has risen only six percent and the state's employment 'bloated bureaucracy' has grown by more than 50 percent.

"We feel that is obvious that a tax limitation amendment is necessary to head off eventual disaster."

According to some economic experts, we are now on the same course that Great Britain followed just 10 years ago.

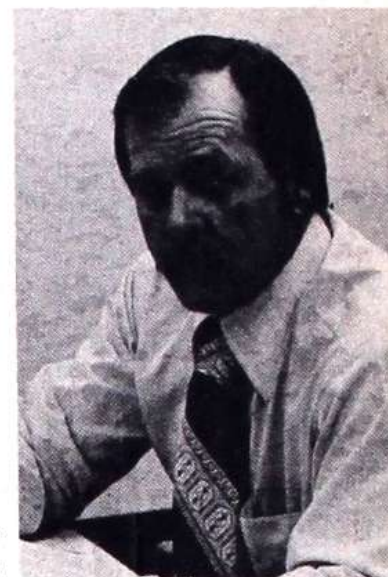

Without a change in direction now, we can expect the same results that have brought Great Britain to its knees.

For that reason, we support the tax limitation amendment, and urge concerned citizens everywhere to first sign a petition, and then vote to approve the measure in November of this year.

From Romulus City Hall

The mayor talks about taxes and tax limitation

WILLIAM M. OAKLEY
Mayor, City of Romulus

Last week, as a result of my deep and abiding concern for the genuine problems faced by many city residents resulting from the recent property reassessment, I took several action initiatives.

1) I set in motion the Mayor's Reassessment Review Committee which has subsequently met on several occasions last week. They have already conducted a hearing with top Wayne County tax officials and are scheduling a series of on-going meetings with other city, county and State officials.

I have assured them a free hand and an open door to all offices in the city, particularly the Assessor's.

They are charged with conducting an honest and unbiased investigation and will report their findings to me and the City Council as soon as possible.

2) I have urged all residents who feel their assessments are too high, by letter, to avail themselves of the established review process, outlining the necessary steps to appear before the Board of Review. Many residents have responded to that appeal and have reported they received favorable consideration from the Review Board.

3) I have met with the Board of Review and personally urged them to give utmost consideration to all appellants, reminding them that the crucial task that is their's must be approached with compassion and understanding.

4) I am encouraged that a group of concerned citizens meeting last Thursday night at the local VFW Hall has publicly endorsed my call for an end to the State's continuing tax growth and agreed to circulate petitions, available at City Hall, to place a constitutional amendment proposal on the November ballot.

The amendment is being sponsored by a group called Taxpayers United for Tax Limitation. In last week's column, I advocated support for this group as an important first step in limiting the ever-increasing tax bite the State takes from citizens every year.

Briefly, the primary provision of the proposal would limit taxes directly to the total personal income of the people, so that taxes would increase only proportionate to the growth of personal income and the State economy.

There are several other important provisions contained in their proposal, which are carefully explained in a pamphlet also available at City Hall.

I again urge all citizens to explore all possibilities open to them and call City Hall with any questions or problems.

Law Day and the 'Guv'

Law day in March?

Yes, if the intent is to honor State Representative Robert Law of Westland.

Last week, Bob Law's friends climaxed several weeks of activity by holding a very successful fund-raising cocktail party for him at the Plymouth Hilton Motor Inn.

Having sat in the state Legislature for a little over a year, Law has impressed many people with his drive, vigor and ambition. Included among the numbers who have converted to the Law approach to government are many who considered him nothing more than a brash youngster when he announced his candidacy for the state representative seat, then held by Westland's John Marks, in the summer of 1976.

But since his victory, his philosophy of government has become known throughout his district and Lansing, and his throng of admirers has grown steadily.

Well, it was into an atmosphere of personal devotion that I entered the cocktail party scene that night.

The party was just beginning as I filed through the reception line. Bob Law was rushing among the group, shaking hands and exchanging pleasantries. All the while, he was fighting to control an embarrassed expression that continued to cross his face.

In the year that I had known Bob, I always had the impression he was a rather shy and unlikely type of person to be in the middle of the heavy Lansing politics that he now found himself in, but I was equally impressed with his apparent ability to handle every situation that arose.

Following the handshake with Bob, I attempted to quietly slither into the crowd for a round of casual observation.

I have found in the past that a cocktail party can be a very interesting place for a reporter who is not recognized.

In fact, some of this country's biggest news stories were garnered through the art of patient listening. That is what I attempted to do.

Coming up behind one group, I discovered Mayor Edward McNamara of Livonia explaining, point by point, his upcoming conference with the mayors and supervisors of the surrounding Western Wayne County areas. A few steps to my left, Mayor Tom Taylor of Westland, hobbled by a broken foot, was discussing his outline for the continued economic growth of his city.

Throughout the room, a constant drone of conversation was taking place. Council men and women were engaged in comparing notes on their respective communities, while the throng of Law supporters scurried about.

Having completed my circle of the room, I found myself back near the entrance with Law standing next to me.

"The Governor will be here in just a few minutes," Law said. "I would like to introduce you to him."

Wondering what I could possibly say to the Governor that he had not already heard, I began to circle the room once again, but this time for the purpose of thinking up a clever line that I could put on the leader of our state.

Following several more eavesdropped high-level conversations, I had managed to squeeze my way about half-way around again, when someone whispered, "The Governor is here."

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

The constantly noisy room fell into a hushed silence as the man from Traverse City and Lansing entered the room.

The handshaking and introductions began anew.

A voice behind me whispered that it was quite an honor to be able to meet the Governor of the state in such an informal situation. Another voice expressed wonder at the fact that such a busy man would take the time to come to a cocktail party in Plymouth.

It was quite apparent that everyone in the room felt similar emotions, unless of course, he or she was a politician and was used to such gatherings.

"Governor Milliken, I would like you to meet Dennis Fassett of the Associated Newspapers," Bob Law said. As we stood before the Governor, the thought occurred to me that here was the man that I had so freely criticized for his strong positions, in opposition to my own. But now, in his presence, I felt only admiration for him and the high office that his fellow citizens had elected him to.

Strange? No, I guess not if you consider that Democracy is supposed to work that way.

In the final analysis, it was not William Milliken of Traverse City who cast the aura. Nor was it the Governor from Lansing.

It was simply the office that demanded the respect.

There in that room, mingling freely with his unscreened guests, was the highest official of the state of Michigan.

Where else in the world would this be possible? Only in America.

Meldrums thank community for its concern

Dear Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to express my deep appreciation for the consideration shown by the wonderful people of Romulus in the recent loss of my husband.

Everyone seemed to forget their differences and helped in every way they could. I am especially pleased that supporters of Terry Trout and William Oakley showed their love and concern.

I want to thank the friends and neighbors for their kindness in bringing food on the day of the funeral. And especially do I want to thank my pastor, The Rev. Gerald Stokes, of Northline Baptist Church, for his care and concern.

Mayor William Oakley and many from city hall came to pay their respects as did Judge James Stone, State Rep. Edward Mahalak and many, many others. It brought many people of Romulus of different persuasions under one roof.

The people of the city and the schools, where my husband worked, were especially kind and helpful. This means much at a time like this. The Romulus Democratic Club was especially helpful and generous to us and played a vital part in our lives.

The Romulus Roman is being commended for its very fine story and we appreciate it very much.

My special appreciation goes to Jan and Doug Baum who treated us with extreme kindness and relieved me of many important matters at a very crucial time. We in Romulus are very fortunate, indeed, to have people like Doug Baum in our city and we appreciate him very much.

I also want to thank the nice people at Beverly Manor, a convalescent home in Southgate, where "Mel" had to stay for five days. Their care and consideration during his short stay was appreciated very much.

No missing kids, splattered house

To the Editor:

S.K. Pullen laments the ban on hunting on Belleville Lake. I guess the whole neighborhood sympathizes.

My house no longer gets splattered with buck shot and I miss the excitement. And the day the neighbor's dog got shot in his own yard, boy you should have seen him run and yelp. Didn't really hurt him. The hunter's boat must have rocked in the waves because he missed the little kids playing out front entirely.

Oh well, so much for the good old days.

Roman thanked for church support

Dear Lee,

I personally want to thank you for the marvelous publicity the Presbyterian Church received about their dinner last week in the Enterprise.

Our attendance was up and we owe that to your marvelous coverage.

The entire church thanks those responsible and we look forward to working with you again.

Sincerely

Marianne McCreight

Traffic light timing could help conserve

With the cries of 'energy crisis' ringing in our ears, we noted with some dismay that one effective measure to help reduce the consumption of gasoline has been overlooked.

A trip down almost any main street in almost any of the communities that Associated Newspapers serves, will disclose the fact that traffic lights have been timed, not to encourage a smooth steady flow of vehicles, but to impede, by design, that possibility.

It makes little sense for the drivers of those eight-cylinder 'gas guzzlers' to have to stop their 4,000 pound machines at each cross street, only to pump the gas to them in order to get quickly to the next stop.

We would suggest that the savings possible with timed traffic lights that would eliminate those constant stop and go on our area streets, would be substantial.

We would like to see the leaders of government act to correct this situation.

Not only would the re-timing of traffic lights reduce the consumption of gasoline, but it would also reduce the wear and tear on autos, and the autos' drivers.

Scout Pack 739 has 'great time' at annual banquet

Members of Cub Scout Pack 739 of Merriman Elementary School had "a great time" at their annual Blue and Gold Banquet, held Feb. 28, a pack spokesman said.

The banquet began at 6 p.m. that night with a few brief comments and prayer of blessing by Cubmaster Paul C. Mitchehl.

The meal was buffet style, with the main dishes being ham and rigatoni, each family brought a dish to pass.

The table themes were developed around state themes, with Den 1 using the State of Texas. There were miniature oil wells made of painted toothpicks, and a model of the Alamo was the centerpiece. The den also made blue and gold nut cups, napkin rings, placemats, invitations and corsages for their mothers.

Den 2 did its table with a California theme. There were blue napkin rings with gold napkins, and the nut cups were blue with miniature Cub Scout heads attached. The placemats were encircled in blue and gold crepe paper, and the Cubs drew their own famous scenes of California on the placemats. They also made a trolley car and the mission of San Juan Capistrano. The centerpiece was a cake shaped like the State of California, with grapes and oranges on top.

Den 3 did its table in a Hawaiian theme, with leis for the mothers to wear. They had a centerpiece of flowers and fruit and a bowl of punch encircled with flowers.

Den 4's theme was Pennsylvania, and a large Liberty Bell was the centerpiece. The bell was covered with dabs of gold crepe paper. The den also had nut cups, napkin rings and invitation in blue and gold.

The Webelos den did its table in an Alaskan theme, with the centerpiece being a sugar cube igloo and a miniature stuffed polar bear standing nearby. The placemats were in blue and gold, and the nut cups were decorated with Alaskan state flags.

Recognized for the work on the banquet and decorations were the den mothers — Nina Caba and her assistant, Judy Cianfarani, Den 1; Mimi Baksar and her assistant, Sharon Michael, Den 2; Sandy Langley and her assistant, Barb Schuster, Den 3; Carol Bales, Den 4; and Paul C. Michael, Webelos.

After dinner, the cubmaster presented awards to the Cubs and then a candlelight ceremony was held for new Scout members. A raffle also was held, with first prize a card table, second a camping lantern and third a folding shovel.

Guests seated at the head table included the PTA President and Mrs. Berliin, unit commissioner Alice Helmuth, Merriman School principal Richard Goode, School Supt. James Garfield. Also sitting at the head table were the cubmaster and Barb Schuster, den leader coach.

Entertainment was provided by the Cubs themselves in the form of Cub Scout clapping cheer, led by the den mothers.

The pack recently held a paper drive under the direction of Alice Stratton. The pack's next paper drive is set for March 25.

Also on the agenda for March will be a trip to see the Harlem Globetrotters at Cobo Hall.

"Stars of the March Sky" is the title of a program to be held at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford on March 29 at 7 p.m.

An assortment of astronomical sights are visible in the night sky of March. Winter and spring constellations decorate the sky while four planets, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn wander through them. If you would like to know more about the stars and planets of this season, join Naturalist Steve Horn for this 1 1/2-hour program.

The program is free, but advance registration is required. Participants should dress warmly. In the event of cloudy weather, an indoor slide show on Astronomy will be shown.

Wayne Bank is pleased to announce that the experienced services of Ann Arbor Bank & Trust Company are now available to Western Wayne County through our offices. A representative of Ann Arbor Bank & Trust will be here regularly and at your convenience to meet with you, review your financial and estate planning, and answer all your questions.

This is an important opportunity for the residents of our area to benefit from the financial protection that a trust can offer. If all your assets—including your life insurance—total $60,000 or more, you should consider a trust.

Essentially, a trust is the professional management of assets by a person or institution for the benefit of someone else. A good definition, but just what does it mean for you?

Trust services can provide you and your family with financial security, offer you substantial tax savings, and help to protect your assets from changing economic conditions.

There are two basic types of trusts to consider: A "living trust" provides you with consistent, professional management of your assets during your life, and for your heirs after your death. A "living trust" can be especially beneficial to retirees.

Another form of trust, the "testamentary trust," is designed to manage your assets for the benefit of your beneficiaries beginning at the time of your death. We recommend the responsible and profitable management of your assets and your family's resources that a trust can provide; that's why we've made these new trust services available to you through our offices. You don't have to be a Wayne Bank customer to take advantage of these trust services. They're for anyone.

To find out more about how trust services can be important to you, telephone 721-4151 or send for a copy—it's free and without obligation—of "Our Family of Trust Services." It could be the most profitable reading you've done in years.

Spelling champs

Students who spelled their way to become champs at Elwell Elementary School recently included a fifth grade winner, sixth grade winner, then the school winner and her two runners-up. Fifth grade winner (at right) was Amy Zarembo, while top speller in the sixth grade (left) was Clint Goodwin. The student who will represent the school at the district spelling bee is Tracy DePriest (above, center), after she won the school bee. Second-place winner (above, right) was Virgie Bright and third-place winner was Monica Bradford (above, left). The three school-wide winners are fifth graders.

Elwell crowns spelling champs

A swarm of spelling bees at Elwell Elementary School has produced some champion spellers who survived the competition in the fifth and sixth grades.

The winner of the fifth-grade spelling bee was Amy Zarembo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Zarembo of Willis Road in Belleville.

Winner of the sixth grade "bee" was Clint Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Goodwin, who also lives on Willis Road in Belleville.

But the competition didn't end there. The top 10 winners from the fifth grade and the top 10 winners from the sixth grade took to battle to determine the school-wide champ.

That top speller wins the honor of representing Elwell Elementary School in the district spelling bee on April 5.

Winner and school champ was Tracy DePriest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon DePriest, who live on Bak. Second place went to Virgie Bright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bright of Karr Road, and third place to Monica Bradford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Bradford of Dunn Street. All three are fifth grade students at Elwell.

Bicycling

Plan before you start riding

The weather hasn't warmed up that much, but already bicycles have begun re-appearing in neighbors after their winter "sabbaticals".

Riding a bike is hard to beat for pure relaxation and enjoyment. It is economical and healthy, a great way for the entire family to participate in wholesome recreation.

However, a majority of the time bicyclists are sharing the road with vehicles much larger than their's.

With almost 100 million bicycles in use today, there is a growing need to promote bicycle safety. Government estimates put the yearly number of bicycle-related deaths at 1,000 and injuries at 460,000. There are some simple rules riders can observe to protect themselves against the carelessness of others.

Before you even take your bicycle out for the first time, make plans to protect it against theft.

A bicycle is one of three items most likely taken when a home is burglarized. Best protection against loss is a chain and lock—case-hardened 3/4 inch chain of at least 36 inches in length covered in vinyl or rubber to protect the bike's finish, and a high quality dial combination or laminated key lock is recommended.

Register your bike with your local police department. Keep the serial number and a description of the bike with your personal identification cards. Many personal property insurance policies cover bicycles under the general coverage. Check with your insurance company to be sure you are covered.

Now that you have assured yourself of a bike to ride, these suggestions will help your enjoyment when riding it.

See What's There: The first step in riding safely is knowing what traffic is around you and what it's likely to do.

Frequently looking behind over your left and right shoulder will keep you informed of changing traffic conditions. Most people tend to steer where they look. Practice the skill of steering straight ahead while checking for traffic.

Be seen: Make sure that the moving traffic sees you.

For day riding, a fluorescent colored flag on a flexible 6-foot pole is excellent for drawing attention to your presence. Wearing bright colored clothing or a reflective jacket can help motorists notice you.

This gives them more time to adjust their driving and leave you plenty of room.

When riding after dark, you must have a front lamp that gives a white light visible for at least 500 feet. A clear white reflector also must be visible from the front. A red rear reflector or tail light must be visible for at least 300 feet. Wear light colored clothes and, if possible, wear a reflective jacket. For both day and night riding it pays to keep your reflector clean.

Listen To Traffic: Your exposure to the environment allows you to hear traffic sounds. Be sensitive to these early signs of potential hazards.

Moving In Traffic: Because you are the operator of a moving vehicle, you must obey the traffic rules of the road. Most important to bike riders are:

—Stay on the right side of the street, near the curb. Move with traffic and watch for parked cars turning into traffic or car doors opening suddenly.

—Ride in single file when you are with others.

—Obey all traffic signs, signals, and road markings.

—Use hand signals to indicate a turn, lane change, or stop.

—Walk your bike across all busy intersections.

—Ride alone on your bicycle. Do not carry packages that interfere with vision or control.

—Never weave from lane to lane, or hitch a ride on moving vehicles.

—Yield to motorized vehicles about to cross in front of you. Do this even when you have the right-of-way, if there is any indication the other person will not yield. You can't win an argument with a heavier vehicle.

Organizers seek to revive ACTION

"We want to revive the early spirit of the Peace Corps and VISTA," said ACTION Director Sam Brown, "but recognizing that we live in a different world today. We've learned from the past, and we're heading now in challenging new directions."

"Both the Peace Corps and VISTA will require volunteers with the courage to confront the difficult and sometimes painful problems faced by the less fortunate."

During March, ACTION Deputy Director Mary King and other ACTION senior staff members will join Brown in a month-long campaign throughout the United States to inform the public of the new thrusts set by the agency's international and domestic programs and the new opportunities they offer for volunteer service.

Both the Peace Corps and VISTA want to recruit a broader range of men and women than has served in the past.

"We want these programs to look like America," said Larry Brown, ACTION's director of recruitment and communications. "We are seeking persons who may not realize that volunteer service in the Peace Corps of VISTA is open to them:

minorities, older persons, blue collar workers, the handicapped." Brown was a Peace Corps volunteer in India.

This summer the Peace Corps is screening candidates for 2,500 new volunteer openings in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Pacific. Nearly 6,900 Peace Corps volunteers now serve in 63 developing countries, working to meet basic human needs in such fields as health and nutrition, food and water, housing, economic development, knowledge and skills, energy and conservation, and community services.

VISTA is actively recruiting 1,100 new volunteers for at least one year of service in poor communities at home. Currently, 4,800 VISTA volunteers are at work in the 50 states, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam.

Both programs will be adding another 4,000 volunteers to their ranks during the coming year.

The Detroit area contact person for the ACTION program is Ronald Cooper. He can be reached by calling 226-7928, or by writing him at 477 Michigan Avenue, Room M-74, Detroit 48226.

It's lazy man's bonsai

You might think of the balfour aralia (Polyscias balfouriana) as the lazy man's bonsai. As this plant gets older it develops woody stems, glossy, leather leaves and light brown twisting branches suggestive of bonsai.

Horticulturists advise placing the balfour aralia where it will get the unbroken light of a north window and temperatures of 30 to 85 degrees during the day and no cooler than 62 to 65 degrees at night. During the winter, it will benefit from moving to a south window where it can get direct sun.

It should be potted in a standard houseplant potting mix with provisions for good drainage and watered whenever the soil surface begins to feel dry to keep the soil around the roots uniformly moist but not wet at all times. Fertilize with any standard houseplant food every three or four months.

When small, the balfour aralia can be used in terrariums and dish gardens. Older, larger plants make good floor or table specimens.

This plant is very sensitive to changes in its environment. Leaf drop is its usual response to changes in light, temperature or humidity, overwatering or low light. It prefers high humidity.

Red spider mites can be a problem on this plant. Inspect the undersides of the leaves occasionally and treat any infestation immediately.

Propagate the balfour aralia by stem tip cuttings.

What Doctors of Chiropractic do, makes sense. They use their hands and a variety of practiced techniques to relieve the pressures that twisted vertebrae put on spinal nerves. The thought is, if you fix the spinal cord so it's not pinched... messages from the brain will flow unobstructed. When that happens, the brain communicates better with other parts of the body so every piece and part receives the messages they need to properly function. The result is improved health.

The Light that shines on

THE REV. JOSEPH GAGNON
Pastor
St. Richard Church
Westland

Across the world this Sunday people will celebrate that it is Easter.

For ancient pagans "Easter" referred to the dawn goddess worshipped in Northumberland in what is now England. Her festival was at the time of the vernal equinox, the first day of spring, when more sunlight than darkness comes to this northern hemisphere.

For ancient Israelites spring came at the time of Passover, or Pasch, the annual remembrance of the angel of death "passing over" the homes of Hebrew slaves, while some mysterious plague killed the first-born of their Egyptian slavemasters.

Christians see in the resurrection of Jesus from the dead the fulfillment of the deepest and best hopes of both the ancient pagans and the Israelites.

Christians see Jesus as the Son of God bringing light into the darkness of this world. He is "the light that shines on in the dark, and the darkness has never mastered it" (John 1:5). Jesus is also the source of life, just as really as springtime brings forth life in vegetation. The great movement of the earth from barren winter to luscious spring is but a faint symbol of the greater movement of man from the barren life of sin, depression and destruction in death to the greater life of grace leading to new life in the resurrection through faith in Jesus as the Christ.

Christians see Jesus' resurrection as the new Passover. This time it is not salvation from physical death as earlier in Egypt, but from the worse death of sin, that rebellion against God which forfeits our sharing in His divine life. As the ancient Hebrews were saved from political slavery to be able to worship God in freedom, so Christians are saved from sin to be able to praise the Lord for His goodness.

After the Passover, the Hebrews had their first crisis of faith at the shore of the Red Sea. With the sea in front of them and pharaoh's chariots roaring down behind them, they had nowhere to go but through the sea. By the hand of Moses God parted the waters and brought the Hebrews across to safety. Christians see in this passage a symbol of Baptism, by which we publicly "take the plunge" (baptizing) with Jesus into the waters of Baptism. There we leave behind our sinful past and emerge filled with the Holy Spirit of Jesus and capable of leading a new life of grace.

Even when enriched by the heritage of ancient pagans and Hebrews, does our belief in Jesus' resurrection mean anything today? All over this earth people are struggling to become free of "oppression to live with the dignity proper to God's sons and daughters. They are going to win. The presence of Jesus and the power of His resurrection in these modern struggles means Christians know for sure Jesus in them will win the victory. The victory will not be the triumph of one political party, or one ethnic group, or one religious sect, or one economic system over another. The victory is the establishment of God's reign of love and justice, mercy and forgiveness, gentleness and peace. That victory is won first of all within ourselves, as sinful ways give way to ways enlightened by God's grace. As we are transformed, we are enabled to transform our world. In the struggle to cooperate in God's transformation of ourselves and our world, we are assured we too will pass through death into the resurrection, if we receive God's saving grace by faith in Jesus the Christ. The ultimate victory is ours. This spring we celebrate the 10th anniversary of the death of Martin Luther King, an apostle of Christian nonviolence for social change. His faith in the resurrection of Jesus enabled him to risk his life and to hope realistically for the day when white and black Americans would stand together in equality and peace. We have no less hope than did Martin Luther King that the power of Jesus in His resurrection enables us to bring God's reign into ourselves and our disturbed world. With him we sing in the Spirit, "We shall overcome someday!"

To life

God gives meaning

Psalms 73:1-26, Ephesians 1: 9, 10
The first three say:

(1) Truly God is good to Israel, even to such as are of a clean heart;
(2) But as for me, my feet were almost gone; my steps had well nigh slipped; and

(3) For I was envious at the foolish, when I saw the prosperity of the wicked.

Man is born into the world, develops into adulthood, baffles with the problems of life, and is finally compelled to succumb to the inevitable. During his stay in time, he accumulates certain materials possessions and adopts certain standards by which he lives. Soon he finds himself approaching the end of his trail in time with a number of questions in his mind—What is life? What is its significance to those who possess it? Does death completely annihilate life? If life has a meaning, where is it found?

In spite of the evil in the world, the Psalmist was able to realize the goodness of God in the midst of it. He knew that the upright face many difficulties and hazards, but he also saw divine goodness displayed in the midst of the derogatory forces of life. Such a vision of God moved him to say, "Truly God is good to the upright, and to those who are pure in heart."

God is good to all men, but He displays a special type of goodness to the upright and to those who are pure in heart. This does not mean that they will not make errors, but it does mean that God will deal with them in the light of their moral conditions.

Then the Psalmist added: "But as for me, my feet had almost stumbled, my steps had well nigh slipped. For I was envious of the arrogant, when I saw the prosperity of the wicked."

He had caused his eyes to become so strongly focused on the prosperity of the wicked that his feet were ready to stumble and his steps were about to slip out of the path of righteousness. He thought that since the wicked were arrogant and disobedient to the commandment of God, they should not be permitted to experience material prosperity. When he saw them prospering, it disturbed him to the point that he lost his mortal and spiritual balance.

In Psalm 73:16, 17:
The Psalmist was disturbed over the status of the wicked who were not only scoffing at the righteous but who felt that they had cultivated a unique way to do wrong without God's being aware of what they were doing. He first rationalized this situation thinking that he had kept his heart clean and his hands innocent in vain. Then one day he went into the sanctuary where he listened to the man of God expound upon God's peculiar and mysterious ways. What he heard about God enabled him to get a better grip on himself.

Ephesians 1: 9, 10, says: "For he has made known to us in all wisdom and insight the mystery of his will, according to his purpose which he set forth in Christ as a plan for the fullness of time, to unite all things in him, things in heaven. "The coming of Christ Jesus to dwell among men fulfilled prophecy and a holy purpose of God."

State may get energy unit

Legislation creating a State Department of Energy to initiate comprehensive energy policies and provide consumer representation has been introduced by Senate Majority Leader William Faust (D-15th District) and Sen. Jerome T. Hart of Saginaw.

"We are introducing this package of four bills to provide Michigan with the strong, centralized planning agency needed to spearhead the state's energy policy," Faust said. "The department will provide the energy planning, implementation and research programs needed to keep Michigan ahead of the fuel crisis."

The Department of Energy would be directed to organize all energy laws and regulations set forth by the state in an effort to promote efficient energy use and regulations.

"A major emphasis of our legislative package is to give the Department of Energy a long-range and firm mandate to develop alternate and renewable energy sources," Faust said. "Our goal is to reduce Michigan's dependence on outside energy sources, and at the same time maintain a strong economy."

Under the Faust-Hart proposal, an Office of Energy ombudsman would represent individual energy users. The ombudsman would represent consumers' interests in policy-making, rate hearings and would deal with matters that cannot be resolved within traditional departmental framework.

A State Energy Review Board would be created under the proposal to provide representation for interest groups in energy issues. The board would be made up of representatives from business, industry, labor senior citizen organizations, agricultural interests and environmental interests.

"Since every Michigan resident is directly affected by the activities of the Department of Energy, it is necessary to include mechanisms to insure greater citizen protection and input," Faust said.

The proposal calls for an intervenor fund to be established to cover costs of consumer representation in cases before the Public Service Commission and the Power Plant Siting Commission, which would be created. The ombudsman would administer the funds, which would be available to consumer interest groups and individuals.

The Power Plant Siting Commission would regulate the location, construction and modification of power generating facilities.

Supervisor advised the Board that it should look into the possibility of the aforementioned purchases. Folks also suggested the Board sit down with Mr. McDonald, the Little League Manager, and discuss his needs. Mr. McDonald thought perhaps the Township trailer would be adequate. Trustee Williams suggested perhaps a trailer on wheels could be used for a refreshment stand, something that could be transported to and from the park area. He came before the Board asking for consideration and the Board to waive the penalty, which amounted to $356.93. Trustee Folks suggested we check our records to see if other customers were late in paying due to the storm.

Motion by Folks to table until we see if other customers were involved and should an exception be made for one day only. Motion withdrawn.

Motion by Williams to look into January billing and see if any other customers were late and paid the penalty. Motion withdrawn.

Motion by Folks, supported by Williams Board waive penalty for Mr. Dukes and all January customers who paid a penalty on their water bill for the month of January 1978. One Naye: Banotai. Motion carried.

There are no monies available at the present time for a permanent building. The National Health Service Corp. provides that each dentist serve one year for each year of college. It pays salaries, pays for equipment and up to $9,100 in supplies. The additional trailer would make it a 4 chair clinic, with 2 dentists, one hygienist and three assistant hygienists. It could be ready for occupancy by July.

Motion by Folks, supported by Williams the Township give tentative approval and refer to Planning Commission. Suggest the Planning Commission meet with expediency and return recommendations to the Township Board. Motion carried unanimously.

'Street' to look at past

Late in the 19th century, a great mass of Jews who fled the hardships of Eastern Europe settled on a few crowded streets of downtown New York. On Hester Street, among others, these immigrants first discovered America.

The 1975 movie "Hester Street" will be shown Tuesday at 8 p.m. on Channel 56, Judith Crist, in "Saturday Review," called the movie "a page from the album of our past." "Hester Street" focuses on Gitt, portrayed by Carol Kane, whose performance earned an Academy Award nomination for Best Actress. A bewildered immigrant wife, Gitt is unable to Americanize fast enough to please her Yankee-worshipping husband Jake (Stephen Keats).

The story is simple. Gitt arrives in America three years after her husband. Jake already is established, with a two-room apartment, a job in a sweatshop and a girlfriend, Mamie (Dorrie Kavanaugh). Although Gitt attempts to learn English and adapt to the American way of life, to Jake she signifies everything he wanted to leave behind in the old country.

Unexpectedly, Gitt, who has submitted to so much bullying and rejection from her husband, slowly finds a way to become victor instead of victim. She, too, discovers America.

"Hester Street" was adapted from the novella "Yekl" by Abraham Cahan, who later became editor of the famous Yiddish language newspaper "The Jewish Daily Forward."

Rotary Anns 'slide into spring'

The recent fashion show sponsored by the Romulus Rotary Anns drew a record crowd of some 200 clothes conscious spectators when it bowed in for a third time March 15 at Romulus High School auditorium.

Mary Oakley, who was in charge of publicity, says all profits from the show will aid the club in its charitable Christmas projects for the community.

Eighteen local models participated in "Sprintime, U.S. of A.", this year's program theme. Kureth's of Belleville was responsible for the full line of summer dresses, sun styles and sportswear which were featured. Sadie's Salon of Wayne created the newest look in hair styles for the mannequins.

Credit for the successful show goes to many people, Mrs. Oakley said, particularly to the business people who donated the door prizes which add so much to a patron's evening.

Awards came from Mach Flowers, Burecuff Furnitke, Sadie's Salon, Romulus Hardware, Kureth's, T-J's Lounge, Doug Brown Music Center and Park Place Party Store.

Still other donors included Bruce Jacox, Romulus City Drugs, Bil-Mar's Market, Betty's Beauty Boutique, Star Engraving, Polka Dot Party Store and many of the Rotary Anns themselves.

Plants which fringed the stage for the event were the courtesy of Carolyn Larson of the Plant Zoo in Belleville. Stanford Walling provided music for the evening on an organ donated by Doug Brown and two Rotarians gave their wives a hand by serving as escorts for the models. The gallant gentlemen were Jason Lovette and Gilbert White Jr.

General chairman for the spring preview was Helena Lilly whose other chairmen included club president Helen Budd, tickets; Annette Mach, door prizes, and Judy White, refreshments.

Quinleys return from Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Quinley of Sumpter Road recently returned from their fifth visit to Hawaii and four outer islands. During their 15-day stay they were able to go deep sea fishing (Pauline's first attempt). Although they didn't catch anything, they did see at least 100 porpoise which, reportedly, was fascinating.

In spite of a few days of rain, they also enjoyed a catamaran dinner and a spectacular sunset. A volcano tour was also on their itinerary as were visits to five major resorts. Included in their group were Walter and Stella Pieknic of Robson Road.

Mrs. Mary Mumford of Fret Road enjoyed dinner and visiting March 12 with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Louise Moore of Taylor.

Following a carry-in dinner at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville on March 15, the group of some 200 enjoyed the slides The Rev. Joy Arthur had taken during his recent visit to India.

Mrs. Kenneth Harden of Sheldon Road is home from Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti where she had been a patient for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Corzine of East Huron River Drive arrived home recently from a month's visit to Langboat Key on the west coast of Florida. They were there with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Loomis of Potosi, Mo.

One of the highlights of their stay was a reunion with two of their cousins, the first time they had seen each other in some 50 years.

Word has been received that Cathy M. Pierson and Jeffrey Willet have reserved Wayne Wesleyan Church for their seven o'clock wedding on March 25.

Mrs. Harold Klaiss of River Rouge was an overnight guest March 15 of Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brinkerhoff of Jackson spent last Sunday at the Riggs Road home of their son and daughter-in-law, Keith and Connie Brinkerhoff.

Mrs. Neil Savage of Dearborn enjoyed visiting at the Columbia Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering on March 11.

Jim and Ruth Pollard of Fret Road and their family, Howard, Paul and J.E. (their son who attends Eastern Michigan University) and his friend, Dawn Robeck, attended commencement exercises in East Lansing on March 11. The Pollard's daughter, Collette, who was among those graduating from Michigan State University received a degree was in human ecology.

Mrs. Aileen Mengel of Ann Arbor enjoyed visiting and supper March 12 with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller of Second Street.

The 16th birthday of their niece, Nancy Ann Hudge, took several relatives from Belleville to the Edward Hudge home in Ann Arbor Tuesday evening. Sharing Nan's requested banana cream pie with her were the Bill Hedges of Elwell Road, the Bert Smiths of Edison Lake Road and Sue Smith who had just arrived home from an 11-day spring break in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. and was enroute to Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. She made the trip via plane with her friend, Mary Cicotte of Belleville.

An Easter duet

Bask in the praises you'll receive when your family and guests finish Easter Sunday dinner with you. Your baked ham and jellied Waldorf salad will draw especial attention since they both will be wearing new looks — a creamy cherry topping for the meat and a ginger cream dressing for the salad. Both of the easy-to-do school of cooking, the apple salad can be made well ahead of time and the ham, of course, is on its own once you pop it in the oven.

For your recipe file

Jellied Waldorf salad and baked smoked ham

Dress your Easter table in the triumphant finery of the season to set the mood for a festive holiday meal. To enjoy a traditional dinner with ease, highlight the menu with a boneless fully-cooked ham, elegant with colorful creamy cherry topping made easy with the new convenient liquid brown sugar. Then choose flavorful meal companions that are in the "do-ahead" category.

Jellied Waldorf Salad is such a recipe with its tangy apple juice or cider, crunchy apples, crisp celery and walnuts and chewy dates.

A ginger cream dressing is what makes this salad different and even more delicious. You'll be sure to draw raves from your family and guests when you team the two.

Festive Baked Smoked Ham

5 to 7-pound smoked half ham
Creamy Cherry Topping
Flaked Coconut

Place ham, fat side up, on rack in an open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part. Be careful that bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degree F.) until the meat thermometer registers 130 degrees F. to 140 degrees F. for "fully-cooked" half ham (18 to 24 minutes per pound); 160 degrees F. for a "cook-before-eating" half ham (22 to 25 minutes per pound). Brush ham with Creamy Cherry Topping for last 20 minutes of baking time. Immediately upon removing from oven, sprinkle flaked coconut over ham.

Creamy Cherry Topping

½ cup Domino Liquid Brown Sugar
¼ cup cream
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ cup chopped maraschino cherries

Combine liquid brown sugar, cream and butter in small saucepan. Blend water with cornstarch and stir into sugar mixture. Add maraschino cherries and bring to boil. Reduce heat and cook, stirring constantly until thickened; continue cooking 2 minutes.

Jellied Waldorf Salad

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
4 cups apple juice or cider
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup lemon juice
2 large Red Delicious Apples
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped walnuts
½ cup chopped dates
½ cup miniature marshmallows
Salad greens
Ginger Cream Dressing

Soften gelatin in ½ cup apple juice or cider. Heat remaining juice. Add sugar and softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Stir in lemon juice, cool. Pour 1 inch of gelatin into 6-cup mold. Chill until partially set. Cut slices from 1 apple and arrange upright around sides of mold; securing firmly in partially set gelatin. Chill until set. Chill remaining gelatin until thick. Fold in celery, nuts, dates, marshmallows and remaining apple, diced. Carefully spoon into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens and serve with Ginger Cream Dressing. Yield: 8 servings.

Ginger Cream Dressing

½ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
½ teaspoon ginger
Dash salt
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
Chopped walnuts, optional

Blend mayonnaise, sugar, lemon juice and peel, ginger and salt until smooth. Fold in whipped cream, chill. Sprinkle with chopped walnuts, if desired. Makes about 1½ cups dressing.

Polish students perform dances for Home Arts Club

Twenty members and four guests of the Home Arts Club along with a host of parents and relatives enjoyed a special performance March 13 by the "Kalisz" Polish School of Language and Culture who presented a dance program for the group on the stage of North Junior High School.

With Maria Lehto as narrator, the song and dance ensemble performed three routines, the first starring the 5-to-9 year age group whose dance told the story of a shoemaker and was typical of the northern regions of Poland. The second dance depicted the southern part of the country and the third the Carpathian Mountain region with its wildly happy dances. Several students even were versed in the low-to-the-ground Cossack type dancing which is often associated with the Russians.

Original Krakowiak costumes were worn by the troupe with the girls and young women in brilliant patterned skirts and vivid velvet bodices studded with semi-precious jewels. The flowered circlets they wore in their hair were festooned with colorful streamers which added dash and color to their swirling dances.

The Kalisz Song and Dance Ensemble is now in its third year of existence; its sole purpose being to retain the culture and folk traditions of members' ancestors and to point out the pride Polish people take in their heritage. Backed by the school, four students were sent to Poland in 1976 to study traditions, culture, language and the arts of the land. Several money-making projects are currently underway to raise funds so that students might attend a Polish language-cultural seminar in Cambridge, Pa. this summer.

Following their curtain call, the group was presented with a certificate of appreciation from program committee member Mildred Baker who also invited the performers to join the club for refreshments.

Assorted bar cookies, Easter candies, nuts, punch and coffee were served in the home economics room where a St. Patrick's Day theme had been used for the table appointments. Phyllis Breithaupt was chairman for the evenings; her co-hostesses being Frances Jobe, Rhoda Chapo, Virginia Turney and Mildred Baker.

The huge potted shamrock plant which centered the table was won by Lillian Ray when the drawing for door prizes was held. Others taking home awards donated by Willis Hardware, courtesy Bob and Mildred Baker, were Bev Eichold, Betty Gott, Lee Smith and Frances Jobe.

Charlotte Price conducted the business meeting which preceded the evening entertainment. The four guests attending were Jeanette Frost, Patricia Kosin, Joan Wegerbauer and Mary Hendricks.

Program committee member Lee Smith announced the traditional spring banquet, when the club's 30th anniversary will be observed, would be held May 8 at 7 p.m. at The Spaghetti Bender in Ypsilanti. Members planning to bring guests must have their reservations and money in at the April meeting.

Virginia Turney, program chairman, gave a resume of the next month's program which will feature a talk on and the exhibit of bobbin lace, an intricate old-world art which has been revitalized in this country. Kathy Campbell of Ypsilanti will present the program.

Members of the nominating committee for the annual April election will be Betty Gott, Lee Smith, Mary Kosin and Agnes Elliott.

Girl Scouts mark 66th anniversary

On March 12, the nearly 18,000 Girl Scouts in the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council joined more than three million American Girl Scouts around the world in ceremonies making the 66th anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouts.

Girl Scouts, the largest voluntary organization for girls in the world, is open to all girls ages six through 17 (or grades one through 12).

Juliette Gordon Low, founder, organized the first group of girls on March 12, 1912, in Savannah, Ga.

In honor of this day, troops across Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, which serves girls in Washtenaw, Livingston, western Wayne and northern Monroe counties, celebrated Girl Scout Week in various ways: holding special ceremonies with other troops in the area, setting up Girl Scout displays at school or in community centers, and participating in special Sunday services.

Girl Scouts have a 66 year history of conserving natural resources, developing skills and abilities that benefit themselves and others, standing for human values, reaching out in friendship and understanding.

Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, a United Way agency, is one of 380 councils of the Girl Scouts of U.S.A.

A dream come true

Their dream of visiting Hawaii was just 10 years later than they'd planned but Roy and Ann Colburn finally got off to the isles of their dreams on Feb. 25. Romulus residents for the past 25 years, the couple raised seven children and now have 20 grandchildren added to their family tree. Having been stationed in Hawaii during World War II, Colburn had promised his wife a trip there on their 25th wedding anniversary which took place in 1968. The "better late than never" journey included a tour of Pearl Harbor, the Don Ho show where Mrs. Colburn was kissed by the performer, much sight-seeing and perfect weather.

Bobbi Lawrence, Washtenaw County Horticultural Agent answers timely questions on lawn care, vegetable gardening houseplants and related topics:

Q. Someone told me I should start my vegetable transplants in early March so I'd have nice big plants to put out in the garden in May. Is this really a good idea?

A. It's usually advised to plant seeds for transplant about two months before you plan to set them into the garden. Therefore, seeds of cool weather crops like broccoli and cauliflower should be planted earlier than seeds of warm weather crops like tomatoes and melons.

If you start your tomatoes too early, the plants are likely to be either weak and spindly from growing in low light or larger than you really want for transplanting. Small, compact, sturdy plants tend to suffer less transplanting shock than larger plants, especially plants that already have flowers or fruits on them. Plants that are trying to produce fruit are slow to develop good root systems to support later fruit production.

Q. I've read that you can get mealybugs, aphids and other pests off of house plants by dabbing at them with a cotton swab dipped in rubbing alcohol. That's fine if you have just a couple of bugs, but what if you have a lot of them? Can you dip or spray the whole plant?

A. You can — but you probably won't be too happy with the results. A bath in alcohol will get rid of the bugs, but it'll also probably pickle your plant. If it's that badly infested and you don't want to use chemical pesticides on it, you might be smart to get rid of the plant altogether. If you don't, the infestation may get completely out of control and spread to other plants.

Q. My amaryllis is done flowering. What do I do with it now?

A. Cut off the old flower stalk. Keep the pot in a brightly lighted spot and water and fertilize it so the foliage continues to grow. You may place the plant outdoors in a sheltered spot for the summer, but be sure to bring it back indoors before frost.

In the fall, gradually withhold water to allow the bulb to go dormant. After about a two-month rest period, repot the bulb if necessary to provide about one inch of space all around it. One-third of the bulb should be above the soil surface. Water lightly and place the pot in a brightly lighted spot. After the flower stalk emerges, water daily. Reflowering will occur in about eight weeks.

Q. Should I have swept the heavy snow off my evergreens during the winter? They seem to have survived OK — they're all standing upright again anyway — but it seems that being mashed the way they were couldn't have been too good for them.

A. If you can brush the snow from your evergreens without doing even more damage to them, do so. Better yet, tie up your shrubs with burlap and string before the winter snows arrive to keep them from getting flattened and broken.

Q. When should I clean last year's leaves off my lawn?

A. You should clean leaves off your lawn the very last thing in the fall. If the snow caught up with you then, rake the leaves away as soon as possible in the spring.

Q. I put my African violets in a south window for the winter so they'd get more light. But I'm still having trouble with the lower leaves. They hang over the edge of the pot, then turn brown and go all soft and die in a week or so. What's the problem?

A. Moving your violets to a south window was probably a good idea. They need all the light that's available this time of year. Extra light won't stop the problem you've described, however. It's caused by fertilizer salts crystallizing on the edge of the pot. When the leaf stems, or petioles, come into contact with these salts, the tissues are damaged and rot sets in. Remove the plants from the pots as if you were going to repot them and scrub the edges of the pots clean. Or cover the edges with waxed paper, aluminum foil or a layer of paraffin to keep the foliage from touching the salt deposits.

Easter Greetings

The Bonanza in Van Buren

Dining out has become one of the more popular and inexpensive ways to enjoy your favorite foods without having to bother to prepare it yourself.

Many of the family-style restaurants people refer to as "fast food", a word combination I personally have grown to like. According to Mr. Webster and his New World Dictionary, fast means firm, loyal, devoted, swift, quick, thoroughly, and lastly ahead of time. The word food is described as "any substance taken in by a person, plant or animal to enable it to live, grow and nourish. That sounds pretty good, too."

The Bonanza Restaurant, located in the Lakewood Shopping Plaza at the I-94 Expressway and Rawsonville Road, is somewhat hard to find, but it is halfway between K-Mart and the Chatham Supermarket. And you should have no problem finding out that this Bonanza lives up to its name as "a rich vein of ore, and any source of wealth."

This Bonanza, as well as two others owned by Ray Seghi, Bob Seghi and Duane Hoskins, are not corporate run, but rather franchised, using the Bonanza name. The operation and policy is set by them, as is the decor and any improvements.

Ray's son, Jim who was our host, is an amazing young man, overseeing — as his title, general manager, implies — all three Bonanzas — on Rawsonville and in Farmington and Redford — and at the age of only 21. Jim has been working with Bonanza for more than 10 years, starting out as a dishwasher, moving up to bus boy, setup man, cook manager trainee, assistant manager, manager and since this past February, the general manager of all three restaurants. Traveling each day between Redford, Farmington and Van Buren Township, Jim starts his day at 8 a.m. and goes on until 9 p.m., when he returns home to Livonia.

Jim relates that customer satisfaction is the key, as well as employee satisfaction. . . . and that is what he constantly works on to improve. Word of mouth is the big reason that people go to the Bonanza . . . and there is an aura of atmosphere . . . not just another "fast food" operation.

Bonanza also is proud that the minimum of time is required to fill any order placed. Some 10 years ago, Jim's Father, Ray, started a Kiddy Menu and the Bonanza corporation has picked up on it, making it an unique feature throughout the Bonanza empire.

Ray Seghi has been in the food business some 20 years and prior to that was in the linen business. Jim's sister, Terry, 23, is working on and off at the business, finishing up at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo with a degree in business administration and a major in advertising.

The Bonanza has a banquet room that holds 52 people for private parties, as well as meetings. There is no charge for the banquet room. In fact, Jim encourages groups to use the facilities, and reservations can be made in advance to insure proper arrangements.

Much of the employees are high school students who get their training from the bottom up. They are considered top class employees and are dressed in a western style theme to blend in with the decor, as well as the image of Bonanza.

The manager, Frank Muscarella, and the assistant manager, Mike Boelter, have everything under control, and everything seems to run rather smoothly. . . . This Bonanza reminds you of restaurants years ago, where you could count on seeing someone you knew each and every time you went out to eat. . . . Friends meeting friends. . .

The decor is unique in that one can imagine a return to the era of the turn of the century and the old West. The dining room is individually tailored to fit the mood of the diner, and privacy is afforded wherever you chose to sit. Rough cut wood beams, with and overhang over each booth in wooden trellis design, makes almost a veranda-type atmosphere. The paneling is halfway up the wall, also in a rough cut wood style, with the multi-colored carpeting in tones of browns and golds, with an early American motif. The booths and tables are constructed of an old thick plank board, with the seats of the booths and chairs cushioned in a soft brown leather.

Another design of the Bonanza is that the center section has booths with a separation down the center to individualize each table. All the outside walls are lined with booths and the remainder of the interior has tables with cushioned chairs for total comfort.

Gardinia: Exotic, but hard to grow

White, rose-like flowers and a heavy tropical fragrance make the gardenia (Gardenia jasminoides) an exotic addition to the any houseplant grouping. It is not the easiest flowering plant to grow, however.

Horticulturists point out that the gardenia thrives under a rather narrow set of conditions that usually are difficult to supply in the home.

Average to warm temperatures, with a night minimum of 60-65 degrees, are required. Temperatures in the 60-65 degree range are necessary for flowering. At 70 degrees or higher, flower buds will form but turn brown and fall off before they open.

Bright, indirect light or full sun also are necessary for flowering. Low light, especially when combined with warm temperatures, will cause bud drop.

The gardenia cannot tolerate drafts and requires high humidity, especially when flowering.

It should be potted in a standard houseplant soil and fertilized monthly with an acid fertilizer. Water whenever the soil surface begins to feel dry to keep the soil around the roots uniformly moist but not wet. Do not allow the soil to dry out.

The gardenia rarely flowers in the home, but its dark green, glossy leaves on woody stems make it an attractive foliage plant.

Insects that may plague gardenias include aphids, mealybugs and scale. Mealy bugs are the most common. Washing off with plain water is the usual treatment.

Gardenias are propagated in the summer from softwood cuttings rooted in sand or a mixture of sand and peat moss. Maintain high humidity around the cutting until they are well rooted.

A special Seghi-designed salad bar is right in the center of the restaurant. . . . Chilled from below, there are inserts of all your favorite salad items, arranged attractively in mouth-watering display that will make your return for seconds and thirds to try everything.

An absolute delight is the antique decorations throughout the entire dining area, hung both on the walls, as well as displayed on shelves, overhangs and the like. Most impressive there are old photographs, frames, tools, school desks, old framed mirrors, farm implements and lumber tools, cabinets, shelves, dried flowers on barnwood, plants, bowls, jugs, crockery.

The menu at Bonanza is designed to insure a wide selection, yet maintain freshness and quality, and prepare it in a speedy manner and serve it piping hot.

Luncheons are served from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and all day Monday. It includes chopped steak ($1.59), petite New York strip ($1.89), veal special ($1.59) and fish special on Friday only ($1.59). Luncheons include a potato, salad, toast and the salad bar. Luncheon special sandwiches are served 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday and include veal (89 cents), fish (69 cents) and cheeseburger (95 cents).

The salad bar is only $1.49 for all you can eat, and the salad bar with sandwiches, the child's plate or hamburgers is 79 cents.

Dinners are served anytime and include strip steak ($3.59), rib eye steak ($2.49), large T-bone steak ($4.29), small T-bone ($3.19), chopped steak

($2.29), petite New York strip ($2.09), veal ($2.19), fish ($2.49), shrimp ($3.09), chicken ($2.89), prime rib ($4.49). Dinners include a baked potato, or french fries, toast and the salad bar.

Platters include hamburger ($1.29), cheeseburger ($1.39), child's hamburger (89 cents), child's hot dog (89 cents) and are served with french fries. The kiddy menu also includes a Tootsie Pop.

Soup costs 29 cents a bowl and varies from bean and bacon to chicken noodle to vegetable beef to New England-style clam chowder on Fridays. The Tuesday night special is the rib eye dinner ($2.29) or chopped steak ($2.09), served with potato, toast and salad from 4 to 8 p.m. Thursday's special is the prime rib dinner at $3.99, served from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Miscellaneous items include mushrooms pieces in natural juice (60 cents), mushroom gravy (20 cents), corn on the cob (49 cents), sour cream (15 cents) and cottage cheese (45 cents).

For dessert there's fruit pies — apple, cherry and blueberry — at 75 cents, fresh strawberry pie at 75 cents, cheese cake — plain, cherry or strawberry — at 75 cents, pudding at 40 cents, Jell-O at 35 cents, coconut or chocolate cream pie at 75 cents, banana cream cake at 75 cents and pecan pie at 75 cents.

Beverages include coffee, tea or Sanka (40 cents), root beer, Sprite, Coke and Tab (16 ozs. at 40 cents), milk (35 cents), child's drink (7 ozs. at 15 cents) and lemonade or ice tea (40 cents). There are free refills on all beverages with meals.

Senior Citizens Night is every Monday when all beverages are free to seniors.

Hours at the Bonanza are 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

DINNER AT BONANZA (Especially selected by Jim to give me the variety of the menu) . . .

SHRIMP . . . golden brown and tender and an excellent taste. The sauce was very mild, yet tangy FISH . . . deep fried to perfection, moist light taste and the tartar sauce was quite good . . .

CHICKEN . . . fried on the outside, juicy on the inside . . .

VEAL CUTLET . . . Quite tasty, with a mild batter crust deep fried and tender . . .

RANCH-STYLE BREAD . . . special butter sauce, toasted on the grill . . . loved it . . .

SALAD . . . Another wonder of the world . . . just pick and choose from greens, tomatoes, relishes, bacon bits, croutons, dressings, lots of things . . . one of the best . . .

PRIME RIB . . . try and find any better . . . juicy, tender, tasty . . . good cut of meat . . .

BAKED POTATO . . . moist, done just right . . . good sour cream . . .

CHEESECAKE . . . CHOCOLATE PIE . . . a must for you . . . both delicious . . .

COFFEE . . . Brewed mild . . . Just the perfect way to end a meal . . .

I truly believe that Mr. Webster, with his definition of fast food, would be pleased to partake of any one of the many items that the Bonanza in Van Buren Township has to offer. . . . Other Bonanza operations take heed. . . . This one is bringing them in with something that some people have been waiting for a long time. . . . atmosphere on a budget. . . . and are walking away satisfied with this new experience in dining.

April shakes off winter blahs

The state's Calendar of Travel Events for April will thaw out memories of winter's snows and turn you on to spring. It's the month for baseball and blossoms, maple sugaring and trout, according to the Travel Bureau of the Michigan Department of Commerce.

Putting last things first, April 28 to 30 offer a triple helping of appetizing festival fare. At Kalkaska, the National Trout Festival will be holding forth, while Vermontville and Shepherd will be hosting their annual Maple Syrup festivals.

Fishing contests, parades, helicopter rides and special entertainment are included in the Trout Festival agenda. At Vermontville you can see how sap is turned into sweet maple syrup and then enjoy some over a stack of pancakes. There also will be a wood chopping contest, barnyard zoo, parade and stage show. Some of the events planned at Shepherd include tractor and pony pulls, stage coach rides and the traditional pancake and sausage dinners.

One of the most encouraging signs of spring and the warm months ahead comes along April 30-May 6 with Blossomtime at Benton Harbor-St. Joseph. It's Michigan's oldest, and probably the loveliest, festival which opens with the blessing of the blossoms on April 30 and climaxes with the Grand Floral Parade on May 6.

Canoe, sailboat, inboard or outboard, whatever your preference in water craft, you can see all that's new for aquatic pursuits at the Boat and Travel Trailer Show April 1-2 at Yack Arena in Wyandotte; Boat Show '78 April 7 at Ford Auditorium in Detroit; or the Bayshore Sport and Recreation Show at the fairgrounds in Escanaba April 7-9.

Antiquers and crafters will have several opportunities to indulge themselves beginning with the Michigan Antique Show and Sale April 1-2 at the Crisler Arena-University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Then comes the Antique Fair and Sale in Grand Rapids April 6-8; Antiques Market at the Farm Council Grounds in Ann Arbor April 16; Arts and Crafts Show at Meridian Mall in Okemos April 20-23; and the Ceramic and Hobby Show April 21-23 at the IMA Auditorium in Flint.

The sound of music dominates the month with renditions by an impressive roster of artists. Miller Auditorium in Kalamazoo will resound with the voice of Joan Sutherland, one of the world's greatest sopranos, on April 4, and the piano artistry of Ferrante and Teicher on April 5. The pianistic pair will display their talent again April 15 in the Music Hall in Detroit. From the popular vocalist scene there's Mel Torme April 6-8 in the Music Hall in Detroit, the unique styling of Sandler and Young April 18 in Miller Auditorium, Kalamazoo, and an incomparable pair of talents, Peggy Lee and Count Basie April 25-30 at the Music Hall in Detroit.

Devotees of the big band sound can treat themselves to the styling of Buddy Rich and his band April 12 at the Center for the Arts at Interlochen. For those who enjoy the homespun variety of melodic offerings, the Traveling Ozark Folk Festival is at Tibbits Opera House in Coldwater

April 25. Symphony concerts are scheduled throughout the month in Detroit, East Lansing, Flint, Grand Rapids and Midland.

On stage, it's a choice bill-of-fare. Among those scheduled are "The Wiz" April 1-30 at the Fisher Theatre in Detroit, "Stop The World I Want To Get Off" at the Center for the Arts in Lansing April 6-30, Mummenshantz Mimes April 9 at the Music Hall in Detroit, "Hamlet" at the Shaw Theatre in Kalamazoo April 12-15, Ballet Hispanico April 18 at the Center for the Arts in Lansing, and "You Know I Can't Hear You When The Water's Running" April 28-29 at Bower Theatre in Flint.

Other April events, covering a wide variety of interests, include the All Breed Cat Show April 1-2 at the Civic Center in Lansing, Ingham County 4-H Show at Meridian Mall in Okemos April 6-9, Longhorn World Championship Rodeo at the Silverdome in Pontiac April 9, Gem and Mineral Show April 14-16 at the National Guard Armory in Jackson, Michigan Stamp Collectors Exhibition at the Birmingham Masonic Temple in Bloomfield Hills April 22-23, and the "Go Fly A Kite" Contest April 29 at the River Front Park in Lansing.

This is the month to get into the "spring" of Michigan and let the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events be your guide. For your free copy, write the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, Box 30226, Lansing 48909.

Doobie Brothers will make rare TV appearance

The Doobie Brothers, one of the most popular rock groups of the '70s, make a rare television appearance on "Soundstage," Monday at 9 p.m. on Channel 56. "Soundstage" is an hour-long, public television concert series that features music ranging from cool jazz to heavy metal rock.

Less than five years ago the Doobie Brothers were playing in a northern California bar and making ends meet with food stamps. Since then the group has turned out 10 gold singles and 11 gold or platinum albums.

The Doobie Brothers' sound is unmistakable rock and roll of a particularly rich variety. Dual guitars, dual drums and softly blending vocal harmonies provide added depth to their recordings.

These rock superstars perform many of their all-time hits including "China Grove," "Taking It to the Streets," "Black Water" and many new hits from their latest album, "Living on the Fault Line."

Communicating: Do we say what we mean?

By MAUREEN BEATTY

Human beings were not meant to live in seclusion. Almost daily, all of us come in contact with others. We talk with fellow workers, neighbors, clerks, members of our own families. Yet, for various reasons in our use of language, we rarely communicate our true feelings.

Lack of knowledge of our language is one deterrent to communication. The inability to exactly express oneself in the right words can be very frustrating. After frantically groping for the right word to convey a thought, the attempt is sometimes aborted, leaving the speaker with a feeling of dejection; his contribution to the conversation lost, his idea never to be shared with the listener.

Others, in hopes of impressing the listener, do not give their views, but those of someone they feel is an authority, quoting from books or newspapers, not delving deep enough into their own feelings to express their true thoughts on the subject at hand. Or, as at a job interview, they may simply answer the questions with words they know the interviewer would like to hear.

Some people find it impossible to reveal their true feelings. They rationalize that to be open is to be vulnerable. "If others knew what I really think", they theorize, "they could use it against me. I could be hurt if I bare myself to others." So they communicate through an invisible piece of armor, weighing each word closely, using only language that is safe and unrevealing.

There is some basis for this form of thinking, for there are people who purposely use language to strike out, hoping to mentally wound the receiver. The mother who tells her child, "I should never have had you. You've always been a problem," might really mean, "I just wasn't ready for motherhood." The wife who tells her husband, (knowing it is a sore spot) "Mary married much better then I. Her husband is a success today", might only mean, "I have been bored lately. Let's take that trip you promised me five years ago." The so-called friend who remarks, "That dress looks nice on you. It helps hide the fact that you are overweight," might really mean, "I wish I had the money to dress so well."

For whatever reasons, when we speak to family, friends or strangers, we often encounter an understanding barrier. The listener is left with either a wrong impression because of the speaker's lack of knowledge of the English language, another's point of view because the speaker plays it safe by quoting others, a half-truth because the speaker feels it is unsafe to reveal his true feelings, or a damaged ego because the speaker is using words to hurt. True communication for some, therefore, is seldom achieved. Some people rarely express their true feelings.

State champ, 4 state runners-up sparkle on All-Area team

CHRIS LEVERENZ

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

In the hallowed tradition of its predecessors, the 1978 Associated Newspapers' All-Area Wrestling conglomeration is a hallmark of excellence.

Visualize one state champ and four runners-up in a lineup, and one could conclude that this year's team is explosive enough to intimidate any across the state.

The first string honor roll includes such notables as Wayne Memorial's Chris Leverenz, the reigning Class A state champ at 178-pounds, along with state runners-up: Chris Bachus (Wayne Memorial), Bill Meyer (Westland John Glenn), Joe Justin (Livonia Franklin), and Mitch Becker (Livonia Franklin).

Add to that impressive list the names of Paul Demers

(John Glenn), Randy Viperman (Plymouth Salem), Bo Wanshon (Wayne Memorial), Jim Ross (Plymouth Salem), Corry Bachus (Wayne Memorial), Jeff Doyle (John Glenn), Bob Doherty (Plymouth Salem) and Bob Dasher (Plymouth Salem) and one would have to dig long and hard to find this year's team's equal.

The ringleader, of course, is Leverenz, among the finest athletes produced at Wayne High which has a fine tradition of producing outstanding athletes.

The 18-year-old Leverenz reached the summit in Class A state competition by avenging his lone loss of the season by defeating Farmington Harrison's Fred Blackmur in the state finals at Kalamazoo's Western Michigan University last month.

Chris compiled a phenomenal 47-1 won-lost record during his senior year and holds a career mark of 80-13-0.

Obviously, an athlete of Leverenz' caliber is being sought after by many of the blue chip universities, however, Chris has not made up his mind.

"Chris has shattered many of the records in our books," pointed out rookie Wayne Coach John Wood. "He is probably one of the finest athletes in this area and one of the most dependable."

Chris established a Wayne record for most falls at 37, tied the school record for most wins and eclipsed the old mark for most tournament points in a season and career.

Only the second place finish at the Schoolcraft Invitational marked what was a perfect season. Though he lost to Blackmur 3-2 at Schoolcraft, Leverenz came back and destroyed his arch-rival, 15-2, at the state.

Becker received his wrestling baptismal at Dearborn Heights Annapolis under the tutelage of veteran coach Jim Bryan. Mitch moved to Livonia at the beginning of the current school year and picked up where he left off. He was one of the bright spots in Franklin's season, managing to win both the district and regional titles before settling for a second place in the state after losing a hard-fought battle with Detroit Catholic Central's 155-pounder, Nemir Nadir, who pulled out a close 9-7 victory.

Becker's credentials also include a first at the prestigious Schoolcraft Invitational.

Justin is only one of three juniors who managed to break into the elite senior-dominated All-Area first team. With a 34-4 won-lost record, the 119-pounder was difficult to keep off. He won six straight tournaments including the Western Wayne, Chelsea, River Rat, Monroe and Suburban 8 Conference championships before going on to capture the district title at Bedford Temperance.

After placing third at the regional, Justin came back and finished second in the state.

"Joe is a very polished wrestler," said Belleville Coach Gerald Malecek. "He isn't physical but his maneuverability and knowledge of the sport helped him defeat wrestlers who were much stronger than he was."

Obviously, Malecek is happy to have Justin back next year. But it will be difficult for the Tiger coach to improve upon a 11-0 dual meet season, though they could improve on their finish in the conference where they shared the league championship with rival, Plymouth Salem.

Chris Bachus' dedication to the sport paid off in huge dividends. He amassed an enviable 41-6-1 record in his second year, which included a second place in the state at 138 and holds a career mark of 78 victories, 18 losses and one tie draw.

"Chris never quits working," noted Coach Wood. "He was the first one in the wrestling room and usually the last one to leave. He has more moves than any individual that I have ever coached and his devotion to what he is doing is the key to his success."

Chris won the John Glenn Invitational, then picked up gold medals at the Ott Invitational, Schoolcraft Invitational, Toledo Rogers' Invitational. He was also the Plymouth Salem champ, Great Lakes 8 Conference and district champs, while finishing second at the regional.

Chris's brother, Corry, also brought the curtains down on an exceptional wrestling career. In his senior year, Corry won 33 of his 41 matches and walked off the mats a winner 83 times while losing 23 during his career at Wayne.

Corry earned the league title at 132, was also first at the Wayne Quad and the district, unfortunately, an injury handicapped him in the stretch drive.

Corry also won the prestigious Schoolcraft title.

"Corry is probably the guttiest wrestler we have on the team," pointed out Coach Wood. "You're always pleased to have a wrestler of his caliber around to help out."

Wanshon is a fierce competitor on the mats whom purists would label a man with all kinds of moves. His 43-8-1 record earned for him a league title at 119, the Schoolcraft championship along with gold medals at both the district and regional tournaments. He finished among the top 10 in the state.

"Bo is a smart wrestler whose three years experience has helped him and the team to become a winner," said Coach Wood. "He won several invitational because of his wrestling acuity."

Vipperman set a record for most wins by a junior at Salem when he piled up a 30-6 record this season. The 105-pound grappler annexed the Suburban 8 Conference, the Canton and Salem Invitational titles to his long list of accomplishments while he finished second and third at the Thurston and Allen Park tournaments, respectively.

"Randy is always aggressive on the mats," said Coach Ron Krueger. "He will be one of the top contenders around next year as a senior."

Salem's 126-pounder Jim Ross ended his prep wrestling career with a 40-9 over-all record and a score of gold medals including titles at the Allen Park, Thurston, Canton, and Suburban 8 Conference tournaments. Ross was also third at the Monroe Invitational and placed third at both the regional and district, paving the way to a fourth place finish at the state finals.

Jim was also the Rocks' captain and holds two records—most wins in a season (40) and most wins by a senior (40).

"Jim is probably the soundest wrestler we had on this year's team," said Krueger whose Rocks captured a share of the Suburban 8 Conference championship by sending a record nine wrestlers in the league finals.

Doherty finished second in the conference at 191, padding his won-lost record to 20-16 for his senior year. He was also runner-up at the Monroe Invitational, third at the Canton Invitational, while placing fourth at Thurston, and the districts.

Dasher brought to an end a brilliant athletic career at Salem and signed a letter of intent to enroll at Alabama this fall. The all-state griddier showed he's no neophyte on the mats as he won 38 of his 43 matches this year. Bob was also first at the Allen Park, Thurston, Canton, Suburban 8, and district tournaments, while placing third at the Schoolcraft Tournament.

Dasher, who is a "small heavyweight" at 240 pounds proved he is among the best in the state by placing fourth at the state meet. He also holds two records: for pins in a season at 21, and the best record for a heavyweight.

Because the heavyweight class is the final bout, Coach Krueger pointed out, "With Bob in that weight class, it was like having money in the bank for that final match."

Diminutive Paul Demers helped Westland John Glenn to another auspicious season. The 98-pounder must have looked like a giant to his rivals as he amassed a fantastic 33-7 won-lost record which earned for him the MVW (Most Valuable Wrestler) award for Coach Bob Lusk's team.

Paul also captured gold medals at a score of tournaments, including the Salem, Flint Beecher, and Glenn meets. Demers was the top wrestler at his weight at the district held at Ypsilanti which the Westlanders won and he also earned a second place at the regionals hosted in Ann Arbor. He struck gold at the Northwest Suburban Conference championship.

"Paul is very coachable and personable," said Coach Lusk. "It's always a pleasure to have this kind of wrestler who is dedicated on your team."

Glenn's Bill Meyer climaxed an outstanding junior season with a 37-6 record. It is rare for a sophomore to reach the state tournament but Meyer did and he returned this year to Kalamazoo to finish second.

Barring any injuries — and in this business that are always a threat — Bill could become one of Glenn's elite by claiming a state title.

The 147-pounder won the Plymouth Salem Invitational and placed second at the Rocket Tournament. He also was second best in the league after finishing third at both the Schoolcraft and Detroit Catholic Central Invitational.

Cage playoffs: Post mortem

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Late night dialogue between a disenchanted high school basketball coach and a tired sports editor:

"You were Ecorse's equal," the sports editor said. "And you probably could have beaten Willow Run and even Flint Beecher, but no way would you have defeated Muskegon Heights."

Reply from the disenchanted coach: "Oh, how I would have liked to have had a chance."

Of course the vernacular dialogue was between Cherry Hill Coach Dick McNally and myself as we analyzed Saturday's Class B state high school basketball game staged in Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor.

Ecorse trotted on Dick McNally's Spartans en route to the state finals, erasing Willow Run and Flint Beecher on its way.

Some will argue that Cherry Hill was the better of the two teams and that the Spartans fatal first period against the Red Raiders at the University of Detroit cost them a legitimate crack at their first state title.

"Muskegon Heights is an excellent team," added McNally. "And they looked awesome against Ecorse, but they barely got out of the semi-finals. They won in the last seconds by two and were lucky."

And that's one thing I have always contended about the "second season" — along with talent, coaches and teams must have a streak of luck to go all the way.

Sports gobbledygook

And now that Spring has finally shown its face in these parts, it's time for a quarterly plea to area high school athletic directors to mail in their spring sports schedules.

Without the schedules — and the names and telephones of the coaches involved — we'll be as lost around these parts as a dangling participle.

One of the area coaches, Ken Mientkiewicz, has agreed to compile the baseball stats for area teams, so that we can have a running account on what the area teams and players are accomplishing during the season. That, of course, will also help in the selection of the All-Area teams.

The gobbledygook that is caused by insufficient data on players could be cleared up if our area coaches cooperate with Mientkiewicz who will be mailing out information on what stats will be needed.

The recruiting wars also aren't over, but at least two All-Area football players have made up their minds about where they would like to continue their athletic careers and education.

Tom Jurewicz, the rugged 6-5, 205 pound senior who distinguished himself in the recent cage season at Westland John Glenn and was also an All-Area selection as an offensive tackle has signed a national letter of intent to enroll at Wayne State University this fall.

Dave Bowen, who starred for Livonia Franklin, one of Glenn's arch-rivals, will be Jurewicz' teammate. Dave also selected the Tartars as his team of the future, joining a host of other Franklin players who have already carved out their niches of honor at Wayne.

Plymouth Salem wrestling coach Ron Krueger tells this story of all-state griddier, Bob Dasher, who signed with Alabama.

"When Bob first came out for wrestling he weighed in at 145-pounds," Krueger said. "And I don't think anyone in these parts ever dreamed that he would ever develop into a 240-pound heavyweight."

How come those Charles Atlas courses never did anything for guys like me, coach?

Top cagers, swimmers honored next week

The basketball and swimming seasons may be over for area high school teams, but the year wouldn't be over without The Associated Newspapers' All-Area teams.

And next week the ANP Sports Editor Tom Mooradian, in cooperation with the area high school coaches, will select a mythical cage team that could give Flint Northern and Muskegon Heights, the reigning Class A and Class B state champs respectively a run for their monies.

These pages also will include an All-Area Swim Team, loaded with talent that is ranked high in the state.

The teams will be made up of players and swimmers who have captured the limelight throughout the 1977-78 campaign.

Also, coaches of the year will be honored for each of the sports.

2 sophomores break All-Area mat barrier

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Sophomores usually don't muscle in on All-Area teams, especially in the pugnacious sport of wrestling.

But Plymouth Salem's 98-pounder, Jeff Brown, and Belleville's Rick Winekoff are rare wrestlers who shun the role of obscurity reserved for most sophomores and have emerged thanks to their expertise as among the finest prep grapplers in the area.

Winekoff is a "natural wrestler" who earned fame a couple of years ago by winning a berth on the Team Michigan AAU Junior Squad that toured Iran.

Rick has the strength, the talent and the desire to become one of the—if not the—best wrestler in this school's history," said Belleville Coach Gerald Malecek.

"He is a wrestler of the Randy Slocum caliber and I believe that Rick will earn even more recognition, barring injuries."

As a sophomore Rick compiled a 21-7 won-lost record. He wrestled as a 145-pounder, a tough class for a soph and he became the first sophomore in the school's history to ever compete in the state tournament.

Winekoff's credits include the district championship, a second place medal at the regionals and winning one of three meets at the state level. He was also the league champ at his weight class, second at the Chelsea Invitational while placing third at both the Bedford and Western Wayne tournaments.

Salem's Jeff Brown is well on his way of becoming a state caliber competitor. The 98-pound sophomore chalked up a 37-13 record which is a soph Salem record. He also won the Canton Invitational and captured the Suburban 8 Conference title.

Jeff finished second in the districts and at the Salem invitational while he was third at Schoolcraft and Thurston while placing fourth at Allen Park and the regionals.

Most of Jeff's losses were sustained at the 105-pound class level," stressed Coach Ron Kruger. "We're looking for him to shatter most of our school records before he is a senior."

Others named to the team are Glenn's senior grappler, Tim O'Neil (105), Salem's Steve Ernst (112), and Rene Leist (119), Glenn's Greg Hamel (126), Belleville's Jeff Rose (132), Carl Winekoff (138), Salem's Wally Brown (155), Wayne's Jeff Bovia (165), Belleville's Bob Cook (178), Glenn's Greg Potulski (191) and Franklin's Mike Broome (heavyweight).

Let no man have any false expectations - Tim O'Neil is as fine a wrestler as there is. The senior grappler amassed a 33-12 record for Coach Bob Lusk's Rockets, lifting them to the Class A District Championship at Ypsilanti and to a third place finish in the regional. Glenn finished ninth in the state.

O'Neil final season on the mats produced gold medals at the league championships and district. He was second in the regionals, then came back and earn a sixth place at the state.

Tim also was first at the Glenn Invitational, second at Beech and Schoolcraft while finishing fourth at Detroit Catholic Central Invitational.

Voted by the Rocket coaching staff and his teammates as the Most Improved Wrestler, O'Neil was elected Glenn's co-captain this year.

Ernst is a senior who racked up an impressive 33-13-2 record in his final season. His performances netted him a pair of second places at the Monroe and conference meets, but he has five third place medals, including a third at the districts, Thurston, Canton, Salem and Schoolcraft Invitational.

Leist owns six school records. He has the most career victories at Salem with 87, most pins at 38, most consecutive pins at 10, fastest pin (15 seconds) and his career record of 87-30-1 is the best posted by a Salem wrestler. He holds the record for most wins by a junior (30).

This year, after finishing with a 35-7 record, the 119-pounder,boastsfour gold medals which were harvested at the Allen Park, Thurston, Canton and Salem Invitational. He also finished second in the conference and district, while he was third at Schoolcraft and fourth at the regionals.

Hamel is an honor student at Glenn where he also ended his wrestling career with a 23-10 record. A three year competitor, Greg is planning to study engineering in college. This season he was the top performer at the Salem Invitational at 128 while he finished fifth at the Glenn Invitational and qualified for the regional with a fourth place finish at the district.

Rose placed in most of the tournaments he competed in as a 132-pounder. The junior made it to the state tournament after placing fourth in both the district and the regional. Rose was the second best at his weight in the league and also won a second place medal at the Western Wayne.

Carl Winekoff, Rick's older brother, will also be back in Gerald Malecek's lineup next year. And he bring with him a 26-3 over-all record which included first place medals at the Bedford, Western Wayne, Chelsea and Suburban 8 Conference tournaments. Carl was second at the River Rat (Ann Arbor Huron) and fourth at the district.

"Carl suffered a broken collarbone during his second match in the district," said Malecek. "And, of course, that stopped him. But Carl was our best wrestler by far at the beginning of the season."

Wally Brown, who transferred from Romulus to Salem with brother, Jeff, leaves the Rock mats after setting three school records and building up a 40-7-1 record. Wally's records include the most points scored by a wrestler (231), most wins by a senior (40) and most wins in one season (40).

Brown was the top wrestler at 156 in the Allen Park, Thurston, Canton, Monroe Invitational and also captured the gold medal at the conference championships. He was runner-up at both the district and regional tournaments and placed third at Salem.

Jeff Bovia, a 165-pound Wayne senior is a serious-minded student of the sport, who came up with some pivotal pins for the Zebras. He piled up a 28-19 record while placing in every tournament he competed in this year. Jeff also won the Wayne Quad, Ott Invitational and was third at the districts and he accomplished this by wrestling over an injured knee all year long.

Recently Bovia competed in the Greco-Roman tournament and won the state title to qualify for the nationals in June. He also will represent the area on a team that will meet a touring German squad that is due to wrestle at Belleville High.

Cook filled in where Malecek needed the points. A regular for three years, the 18-year-old Cook has competed as a heavyweight, 191-pounder and this year was a 178-pounder. He won the league title and went on to place third at the district and regionals but didn't place at the state. He placed third at the River Rat and Western Wayne, fourth at Bedford and won the Chelsea tournament.

"Bob filled in at those weights where we were void and did an exceptional job for us," Malecek pointed out. "We're going to miss him."

Potulski also completed three years of competition and wound up with a 19-10 record in his senior year. He placed third at the Glenn and Salem invitational, but won second place medals at the league and district tournaments.

A versatile athlete, Greg was an all-conference defensive tackle, has lettered in track and wrestling for three years.

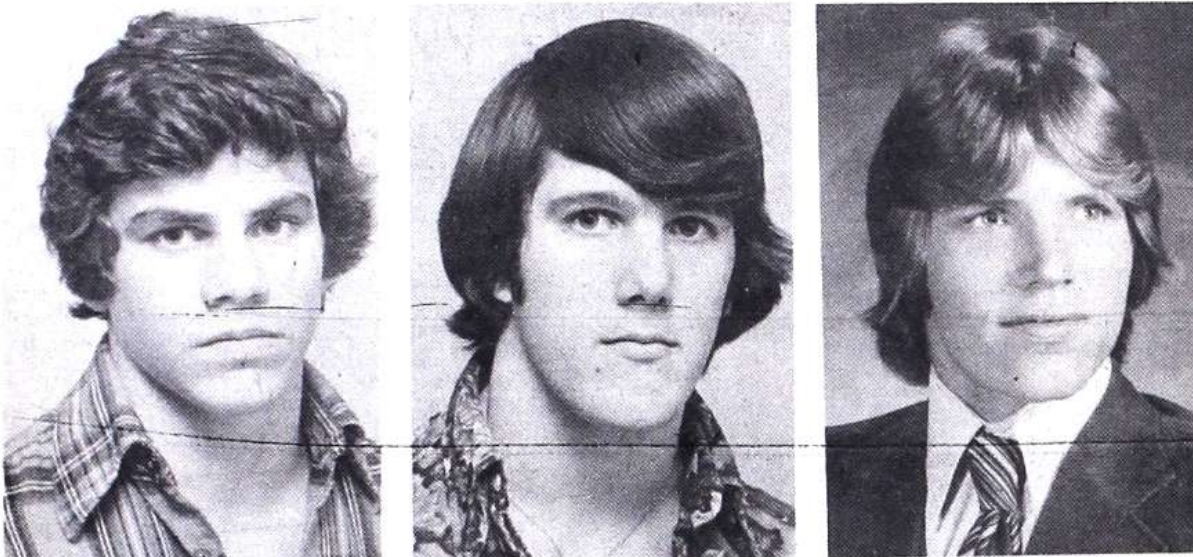

Broome is also a multi-talented athlete who earned accolades as a griddier as well as a grappler. He was the top heavyweight in Livonia while he finished second to Bob Dasher (Salem) at the district and he went on to the state after picking up a third place medal at the regional.

The liquid level of the antifreeze and water mixture called the coolant in your radiator should be checked every time fuel is purchased. This mixture must be maintained at the proper strength so that it will keep the engine cool in summer and prevent freezing in the winter. It is best to make routine checks of the coolant when the engine is warm. Coolant can be checked anytime, of course, but be sure to be very careful. Most radiators have a pressure cap. If the cap is released while the engine is hot, the coolant may boil over and spout out dangerously. Never cars have an overflow tank and a visual sight level indicator which eliminates the problem.

Getting your car back in shape after this record breaking winter can be easy with help from KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster, Do-it-yourself mechanics are invited to come in for the parts and experienced advice needed to repair and tune-up your own car. JOHN WOOD
WMHS coach

ANP's choice of 'Coach of the Year'

Wood carries on winning tradition

To perpetuate a winning tradition, a coach must work. And when John Wood inherited Wayne Memorial's wrestling team from veteran mentor Don Haney he knew he would have to work to maintain the high standards that his predecessor had established during his tenure.

Wood, a 29-year-old ex-Westland John Glenn grappler, stepped into Haney's spot and continued that irrepressible Wayne wrestling tradition.

But there is more than one reason why The Associated Newspapers have picked Wood out of a field of many talented area wrestling coaches to honor him as the 1978 ANP "Coach of the Year".

Not only was he able to maintain the Wayne tradition, but the former grappler chalked up a string of impressive victories including championship performances at the prestigious Schoolcraft Invitational, John Glenn Invitational and the Bay City Western Dual Tournament.

Wayne finished third at the Ypsilanti District Tournament behind Westland John Glenn, and came up with a fourth at the regional. But Wood's team produced a state champ in Chris Leverenz and finished sixth in the state, the highest of any area team.

"I realized that it would be a difficult undertaking to replace the caliber of man and coach that Don Haney is," said Wood. "My main concern was to bring out the best in our wrestlers and I feel in a way I managed to accomplish that."

After graduating from Glenn - he was a member of that school's first graduating class (1966), Wood attended and earned a bachelor's from Eastern Michigan University. He majored in special education.

His first coaching position took Wood to Valparaiso University as an assistant coach, but in 1972 he returned to the area to serve as an assistant to then Romulus High's head mat coach, Jim Stallings. John moved to Trenton High when Stallings was offered the job as the head coach at that high school.

When Haney decided to bow out of coaching, Wood was interviewed and got the job as head coach at Wayne.

Wood feels, now get this, that as a rookie coach he wasn't "demanding enough."

"I'm going to be more demanding of our wrestlers in the future. I feel that an athlete needs and wants discipline. And I'm going to provide it."

Near perfect volleyball season

An exciting volleyball season came to an unexpected end for Wayne Memorial's varsity team which has breezed through the Great Lakes 8 Conference year with a perfect 7-0 record and chalked up a near perfect 15-1 overall record. The Zebras' campaign ended at the regionals when they lost to arch rivals, John Glenn, a team that they had earlier beaten. Members of the memorable Wayne

Area age group wrestlers fare well at tournaments

Young wrestlers in the area are proving they can be tough and at recent invitational scores of area grapplers finished with medals.

The Wayne-Westland Wolverine Wrestling Club sent a delegation to the Olympic Wrestling Club Invitational in Bloomfield Hills and returned with a first, a pair of seconds and a third place.

Charlie Lauber, a 72-pounder, captured top honors in the 8 and under category, beating teammate Chad Prater in the finals.

Mike Conboy was the second best wrestler at 68 for 9-10 year olds while Scott Griffith finished third in the 59-pound class in the same age group.

At the Fenton Invitational, Marc Sundberg proved he was the best 72-pounder in the eight and under class and again it was Prater who was forced to settle for a second place in that weight. Charlie Lauber (67), Richard (55) and Rodney Nastal (43) were awarded third places, also for eight and under wrestlers.

In the 9-10 age group, Conboy again returned home with a medal - this time a second place for his performance at 68, while Dan Schimansky was second (71) and Sundberg was unbeatable at 74.

Kirt Campbell finished first at 112, while Jeff Sundberg earned a second place at 105 for 11 and 12 year olds. In the 13-14 age group, Robb Paciocco was the runner-up at 110-pounds.

Meanwhile, the Wayne-Westland YMCA Spartan Wrestling Club entered eight matmen in the 12 year old and under bracket at the Berkley Wrestling Club Invitational and fared well.

The Spartans had three runners-up in Tom Gobson (74), Les Pollington (90), and Dan Gibson (52), while they placed third with David West (78) and Jason Weibek (52).

The Spartans are expanding their club to include a senior division and athletes are invited to contact the YMCA for further information (721-7044). Wrestling classes for boys ages six to 12 are offered.

The Spartans, under new head coach Gerald Wiebeck, placed 13 of their wrestlers in the Hazel Park Webster Graywolves' Invitational Tournament.

In the Eight and Under Division, Charles Lauber, a 67-pounder and Toby Heaton, at 72-pounds, placed third, while in the 9-10 age group, the Spartans claimed three gold medals thanks to Scott Griffith (59), Ed Fowler (65) and John Eberhart (74). Also in the 9-10 age group, the Spartans received third place performances from Dan Gibson (71) and Pat Dudek (100).

Meanwhile, Tom Gibson captured the gold medal at 74 for wrestlers 11 and 12 years old, while Les Pollington finished third in the 90-pound class.

Over in the 13-14 age group, the Spartans came away with three second places thanks to Ron Brusseau (80), Marty Heaton (105) and Jim Spada (126).

The Wolverines returned to the mats over the weekend at the Adray Wrestling Club Invitational held in Dearborn and wound up with a score of impressive victories. They picked up gold medals in the heavyweight when Chris Zimmerman proved he was the best in the 8 and 9 year old division while Marc Sundberg (72) and Brian Gabriel (67) also came through with victories.

Chad Prater was runner-up at 72, while Rodney Nastal (43), Richard Nastal (58), Shawn Dalfi (67) and Eric Thornton (72) each earned third place medals.

Dan Schimansky (68) and John Sundberg (74) placed second and third respectively in the 9-10 age group while Tom Forchione and Kirt Campbell struck gold at 100 and 112 pounds respectively for 11 and 12 year old wrestlers.

Also, the Wolverines got a gold from 155-pounder Keith Zimmerman in the 13 and 14 age group where Robb Paciocco placed second at 100 and George Asher was third at 80.

Prep cage coaches name all-league

Area high school cagers captured their share of honors in the annual all-conference basketball teams selected by the coaches of their respective leagues.

Darnell Morris, a 6-4 senior at Wayne Memorial, was named to the first team of the All-Great Lakes 8 Conference squad, joining such notables as Taylor Truman's Keith Mitchell, Fordson's Bill Cibulka, Lincoln Park's Ed Eccelton and Truman's Bruce Eccelton.

Meanwhile, Belleville's Kelvin Patterson was an unanimous selection for first team honors in the Suburban 8 Conference selections.

Patterson, who scored at a better than 20 points per game clip and contributed 14 rebounds per game, is a repeat performer who is in a line-up with such outstanding players as Tom Ellinghausen (Plymouth Salem), Michael Petsch (Redford Union), Eric Thorderson (Livonia Bentley) and Dave Stone (Livonia Bentley).

Salem's Rich Hewlett and Belleville's playmaking guard Herb Burrus was named for second team honors.

A smash hit

Perfection comes only with practice, and then it's doubtful. But Wayne Memorial's girls' volleyball team had a near perfect season thanks to many hours of hard work and sweat. The Zebras trampled their Great Lakes 8 Conference rivals, sweeping seven straight games. Above, Ann Kolnitys (at right of net) follows through on a "spike". She was one reason why Wayne amassed a 15-1 record during the 1977-78 campaign.

Team that refused to be forgotten

When the voters in Romulus began turning down millages right and left, it appeared that Romulus High wouldn't have a basketball season, so many of the veterans took off for greener pastures. But the voters came through and the team that nearly was forgotten gave the residents something to cheer about as they not only emerged as a winner but displayed the power and the makings of a future area power. Above, Coach Rod Hanna, (at left) who completed his first year, joins some of the cagers who made this an auspicious season for the Eagles. The cagers were also named as the Most Valuable in various categories. The players are Stu Block (second from left), Vince Bean and Herb Buckley.

Upset rocks hockey league

Four-Seasons, who was enjoying the view atop of the Westland-Wayne Over 30 Hockey standings, apparently got caught looking and not playing against one of the "also rans" in the league.

After replacing Extra Point Bar as the No.1 team, Four-Seasons made a costly slip and dropped to second place after a humiliating 8-1 defeat at the hands of seventh place Johnson's Carbonic.

The loss, coupled with an Extra Point victory, lifted the barmen into first place.

Ron Johnson and Lee Calloway, the league's leading scorers, inflicted most of the damage to Four-Seasons first place image. Johnson collected two goals and three assists, while Calloway accounted for a hat trick and chalked up four assists to help mastermind the upset.

The victory was only the fourth for the Carbonic people who are mired near the cellar of the league with a 4-15-1 won-lost-tied record.

Bill Keshey picked up a pair of goals for the winners and Ralph Tack scored with six minutes left in the game to rob Larry Whicher of his first shutout.

Meanwhile, Extra Point took over first place as it defeated 52nd Show Bar by one goal for the third time this season. John Colligan scored two goals to lead the barmen and Dave Zajac added the third in the 3-2 triumph.

Perry Toipher and Dale Auten tallied for the losers who missed an opportunity of tying it up when a shot missed the goal by inches with only two seconds left.

Extra Point and Four Seasons have a "last game of the season" date. The loss to Carbonic forced Four Seasons in a do-or-die situation. It must win to survive the

Thinclads head for Huron Relays

Though Romulus got off to an early track start by competing in the annual Ferris Invitational, most area high school track teams will officially open the 1978 campaign on Saturday at the Eastern Michigan University Huron Relays.

The relays will begin at noon at the Ypsilanti-based university.

Romulus meanwhile placed fifth in a field of 18 teams at Ferris. Coach Al Wilkerson's Eagles chalked up 12 points on the strength of a couple of excellent opening day performances by junior Don Grandison and long jumper David Earle.

Flint Kersley, the recipient of a few transfer athletes who refused to sit out the season when Davidson voters turned thumbs down on a millage (and they turn millages down up there, too) won the team championship with 51 1-3 points.

Grandison won the high jump event a year ago, but settled for second when he only could negotiate 6 feet, 2 inches. The gold went to Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills' Dan Sapp who cleared 6 feet, 6.

Sophomore David Earle leaped 19 feet, 7 1/2 for a third place in the long jump. The winning jump was posted at 21'3".

Steve Zimmerman covered the half mile in 2:07.7, while teammate Herb Buckley was clocked in 54.95 for the half and quarter miles, respectively.

Richard Lewis contributed a fifth place with his 8.15 seconds effort for the high hurdles, while Wilkerson's mile relay team of Tim Flake, Les Beregsassy, Zimmerman and Buckley earned a sixth place. The foursome was clocked in 3:44.9.

Though Wilkerson also lost a few athletes because of earlier millage problems in the school district, the fourth year head coach is "cautiously optimistic about this year's team."

"We have around 38 athletes out for the team right now," Wilkerson said, "and that's a pretty good turnout. Right now I'm just cautious about our chances."

Express to hold area soccer tryouts

Tryouts for players interested in playing in the Bonanza-Express Soccer League will be held three consecutive Sundays, starting April 2, at Oakland University in Rochester.

Players 17 and under are to report at 9:00 a.m., April 2, while players 22 and under are to report at 2:45 p.m. On the next two Sundays, April 9 and 16, only the older age group is invited with a starting time of 1:00 p.m. each day.

Tryouts will be conducted by Wayne Pirmann, Executive Director of the Bonanza-Express League, who is also State Coach, Director of the Michigan Soccer School, and immediate past-president of the Michigan Soccer Coaches Association.

Players selected from these three tryouts will be placed on six 25-30 player rosters, each representing a region. 15 to 18 of the players from each roster will be named to play on the Bonanza-Express League team from their region.

The six regions are: Ann Arbor and surrounding areas; Flint and surrounding areas; Macomb County and parts of Detroit; Oakland County and parts of Detroit; "Shorepoints" (Mt. Clemens, Roseville, St. Clair Shores, Grosse Pointes, and East Detroit); and "Westside" (Farmington, Garden City, Livonia, Northville, and Plymouth).

For further information, call the Bonanza-Express League at 342-8779 or the Detroit Express at 338-9100.

At Thursday night's meeting, the league fees will be discussed.

The initial pre-season meeting of all persons who are interested in coaching a girls' softball team will also be held Thursday night at 8. The meeting will take place in the Auxiliary Room.

Harris ends indoor track career at GVSC

Larry Harris, recently the recipient of the Paul I. Phillips Memorial Award at Grand Valley State College, ended his collegiate indoor track career with an impressive victory.

Competing in the Great Lakes Conference Indoor championships, the two-time All-American captured the gold medal in the 880-yard run as he turned in a 1:58.6 for his victory.

A Robichaud High product, Harris has earned All-American consideration as a half-mile and in the 1,000 yard run.

Harris was presented the Phillips Memorial Trophy for his performance at the ninth annual Grand Valley State Invitational Track Meet.

Named in honor of the late Paul Phillips, former Urban League Director and member of the Grand Valley's Board of Control, the trophy is awarded annually to the top performer at the GVSC Invitational Indoor Track Meet.

Mrs. Phillips, Paul's widow, and son, Michael, were on hand to present the trophy to Harris who was brilliant in the half mile event.

South relay team 10th at state

Belleville South's freestyle relay team earned state-wide recognition last week by placing 10th at the AAU State Championships.

The championships were staged in Kalamazoo, Michigan on the campus of Western Michigan University. South, recently crowned the Junior High School League team champ, used a lineup that consisted of Jeff Sterling, Mark Schofield, Dave Dubisky and Dave Carlson for the event.

The foursome responded in a fast 3:48.4 which earned for the team a 10th place in the state for the 400-yard freestyle relay.

The time shaved four-seconds off the current South school record. The previous record for the event was a 3:48.4.

Each member of the team was awarded a certificate by the state AAU chapter which indicated the place of finish for the team.

Grissom's world

Fisherman's 'widow'

By SAM GRISSOM
Outdoor Writer

Probably the least mentioned or appreciated person in all of the outdoors is the fishing widow.

Forced by family obligations and economics to stay behind while her husband goes off in search of the elusive steelhead, she has to listen to the vicious barbs of neighbors who question her lot in lot and often suggest that her husband places her one step below a trout on his list of priorities.

He doesn't mean to neglect her, but it would be far easier for a duck to not fly south in winter, than for him to stay home when the steelhead are running.

Most steelheaders I know spend eight months of each year trying to be model husbands; it's only when the steelhead start running that they go slightly awry. Most wives learn to accept this behaviour as the nature of the critter.

In the last few years I've seen a welcomed increase in the number of family fishing groups on the streams. Mostmen have found that by not going as often and by only slightly changing their fishing techniques that they are able to take their wives and kids along and avoid domestic discord.

I recently remarried and Peggy understands that I "have to fish".

My wife doesn't particularly care to fish, but she doesn't like to stay home either, so with little or no warning she can be packed and have my three sons in the truck almost before I can have the boat loaded.

I've found that many of the rivers are fishable for family groups, and the surf and pierheads are excellent family fishing locations.

One word of caution - never take kids out on the piers without a good quality life jacket. The distance to the water often exceeds six feet and in many spots the water depth approaches 30 feet.

I would like to thank all of the women who have been "fishing widows" and who probably will be again. I'd also like to remind them that it's not necessary for them to be widows and for the kids to be orphans. Take up steelheading as a family; and now is not too soon to start getting ready. The pier fishing starts getting hot about the last week of March and with all of the equipment you'll need to get, it's much sooner than you think.

Each family member will need a rod and reel that will hold at least 200 yards of eight to 10 pound test line with a good smooth action drag. Another must for each family member is a good rain parka or poncho. Not only will it help keep the rain off, the wind can get mighty cold out on the breakwalls and the parka makes an excellent windbreaker.

While not necessary, many women and kids find standing on a pierhead very tiring, so a small camp stool can be helpful. One item that I've found to be invaluable is a five gallon plastic pail. I bought mine at a hamburger joint for about 75 cents and it came with a lid. It also makes an excellent stool, plus it doubles as a tackle box.

Another item that is necessary for successful pier fishing is a long handled net. Trying to reach the four to six feet to the water is not only hard, it's dangerous.

The spring fishing near the shore is fantastic and you never know if you are going to catch a nice steelhead, lake trout, brown trout or jumbo perch. I have consistently taken trout approaching 15 pounds while fishing from breakwalls and have seen browns taken that approach the 30 pound mark.

Once you've taken a few large trout you'll be able to understand your husband's reasons for heading North. Steelheading is addictive and once you start you going, your case of "fishing fever" will keep you from ever again becoming a "fishing widow".

title race.
All Extra Point has to do is skate for a tie and the championship is theirs.

In other action, Tastee Freeze notched only its third victory of the season as it edged Jack's Sporting Goods 4-3 in their final encounter of the year. Tastee Freeze led 2-0 after one period, but Jack's came back to take command 3-2 early in the third period, but T.F. rallied with two goals in the finals to make the victory theirs.

Wayne Karate Club is coming of age

After successfully competing in their inter-club tournament and earning three trophies at the national tournament, the Wayne Karate Club is preparing for the 11th annual Chung-Do-Kwan Tournament which will be held April 2 at Dexter High School.

Competition at Dexter will begin at 11 a.m. At the Ji DoKwan National Championships staged at Michigan State Fairgrounds, Wayne picked up three trophies thanks to Paula Jackson who won the advanced form category and placed third in women's advanced sparring. Debra Stanui placed third in the advanced form in a field that saw more than 500 competitors vie for the various classifications.

In a meet which brought together the members of the Chung-Do Kwan Clubs of Michigan and Indiana, Wayne also fared well. Paula Jackson claimed a first place in the brown belt forms competition; Greg Tulido was runner-up in brown belt form and Snezana Filkowski took third place in green belt form.

Ron Rose topped the field in the black belt sparring division. Meanwhile, in the junior novice division, Bozidar Filkowski swept a pair of first place trophies for his performances in sparring and forms.

Joe Bondy gave the Wayne contingent second place in both the sparring and the forms in the junior advanced division.

Other members of the Wayne Karate Club who competed are M Pulido, second place in sparring; T.Danture, D.Gravitt, G.Alertin, F. Malone, D. Short and J. Jason. Karate competition is usually divided into two divisions: sparring which is controlled or light contact free fighting and forms, a set pattern of moves with body encounter techniques accomplished with precision, form and power. Only in the form category is there competition between the opposite sexes.

Westland softball deadline set

With spring here, can the summer softball season be far off?

The Westland Parks and Recreation Department doesn't think so and has issued its first call for softball teams for the 1978 league season.

Registration will be accepted for the city's adult softball league during the week, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and on an extended basis Tuesday until 8 p.m. at the Westland City Hall, 36601 Ford Road.

Because of the popularity of the city's Men's Major, Men's Minor, Women's and Community Organization Leagues, team managers are urged to register as soon as possible.

Deadline to enter any league is 5 p.m., March 23.

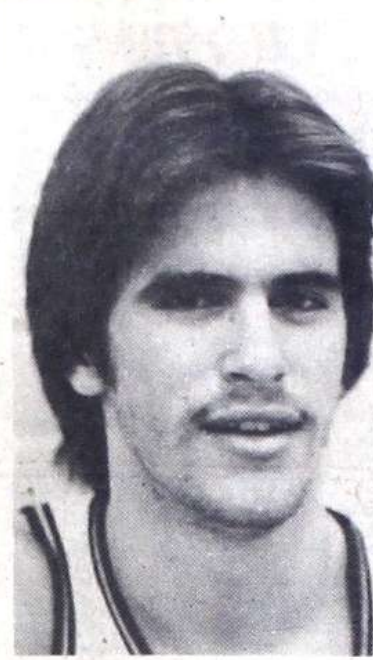

For further information on entry fees, dates and times of games, please contact the recreation officials at the Multi-Purpose Arena at 729-4560.

Jaws

Lisa McKesson, 30530 Steinhauer, Westland, (at right) and sister, Denise, 13-years-old, are pictured here with an 18 lb. African Pompano and 50 lb. hammerhead shark they entered in the Metropolitan South Florida Fishing Tournament.

They fished out of Islamora with Capt. Ray Merrill on the Ding Dong Too as guide. Also pictured is mate, Brian Keith. Lisa will receive a citation for her catch.

JOHN NIBERT

Nibert is MIAA's most valuable cager

Alma and Albion shared the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) basketball championship, so it only seemed appropriate that when the league coaches deadlocked in their balloting for the Most Valuable Player that it remained a tie.

For only the third time in the 31-year history of the award, coaches have given the honor to two players - Alma guard Dan Stolz and Albion center John Nibert.

And both should be heard from again, as they are juniors. Stolz, who hails from Okemos, was second in league scoring with 23.5 ppg., while Nibert, a former All-Area cager from Wayne Memorial, was third with a 21.3 average.

The league scoring title went to Kalamazoo junior forward Dave Dame who was the only player to repeat as a first team all-MIAA choice. Dame, who also hails from Kalamazoo, averaged 23.9 points per game.

The last co-most valuable player award goes back to 1953 when Manny Glasser of Kalamazoo and Ron Bos of Hope tied. The only other time was in 1948 when Lew Moon of Albion and Don Mulder of Hope deadlocked.

Others named to the first team were Calvin forward Dwight Maliepaard, a senior from Grand Rapids, and Adrian forward Curtis Williams, a junior from Niles, Ohio.

The first and second all-league teams are determined on the basis of ability rather than position. It is interesting to note that only two guards are among the top 10 and seven of the group are juniors.

They're district hockey champs

Westland squirts win district hockey title

Subduing Garden City twice in the playoffs, the Westland Squirt Open Hockey Team captured the District 5 championship last week.

Romulus also signing up for softball

The Romulus Parks and Recreation Department is seeking players and coaches for a summer softball league for men 35 and over.

Those who are interested should contact Bob Martin at 941-8810 from 8:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. or telephone the parks and recreation offices at 941-0666, extension 67.

League play will begin in May and games will be held Sunday mornings at Elmer Johnson Park.

Westland won the first game by a 4-1 margin as the champs cashed in on goals from Scott Carter, Bryan Lukomski, Bobby Worden and Darren Mills, while assists went to Stash Pientack, John Piccolo and Chris Kaske.

In the championship round the Westlanders also chalked up a convincing 5-1 victory as Robin Kelm, Bobby Worden, Dan Norwood and Darren Mills again found the net. Stevens and Lukomski were credited with assists.

Goalies Vince Stevens and Billie Robinson did an outstanding job allowing only two goals in the final and decisive games of the playoffs.

The championship is Westland's ticket to the state finals which will be held this month at the Plymouth Arena. The Westlanders are coached by Rick Mullen, John Ruggiero and Jerry Ahr.
